THE COLLEGE OF WILLIAM AND MARY

THE COLONIAL

ECHO 1962

FOREWORD

The College of William and Mary is a home for students during four years, or sixteen eventful seasons. To each, William and Mary has given knowledge, friendship, a beginning of maturity, and a wealth of private memories. Thus, in the future, we will cherish individual reminisces along with the setting of Colonial Williamsburg, the professors, the late nights, the festive occasions, and the textbooks so common to all of us. The events, people, and knowledge remembered by each of us will be as varied as the seasons, but it will all be William and Mary.

William and Mary is the golden enthusiasm of autumn, so obvious in football games and so essential in beginning a new academic year. It comes with the brass of the band, the intellectual stimulation of new courses, and the vitality of new friendships; and it remains long past the falling of the leaves.

Sharply contrasting days of gloomy rain and luxuriously white snow are part of our winter at William and Mary. There are interminable papers, exams and more tests, and an exhausting round of meetings and activities counterbalanced with spontaneous Christmas serenades, the exuberance of Rush, and the serenity of the Wren Building lit up for Christmas.

Spring brings to Williamsburg astounding beauty and the busy tourist season. William and Mary is also busy with final projects, tests, and papers. Yet sun-filled moments also allow friendships to ripen to their fullest beauty and quiet moments allow love to begin during our spring.

Just as summer brings the products of earth, so our summer brings the culmination of our efforts at William and Mary. Some march to "Pomp and Circumstance" into new efforts and new lives; others leave to return in the fall. But each will take away the results of his enthusiasm, his work, his loyalty and friendship, and his achievements. And each student will leave something of himself at William and Mary.

Autumn is not just returning to William and Mary and the changing of the leaves. It is the affirmative greeting of an old friend and the crowds bellowing from the football stadium on brilliant Saturday afternoons. It is the vibrant tradition of cricketeers in white, scarlet-clad Queen's Guardsmen, and the colorful academic robes worn in President Paschall's inauguration during the fall season. Activities are also organized, and the compus buzzes with student activity as squirrels scaroper through balf-nude trees.

The noise of the marching band watts through the window, and we sometimes long for escape from studies. Our labors, though, bring with them the thrill of stimulating thought. We take our ideas to a dusky corner of the library or to the many-hued panorama of Lake Matoaka, and there they are nourished and grow. These studies, activities, sports, and social events reflect all the vizor and enthusiasm of autumn at William and Mary.

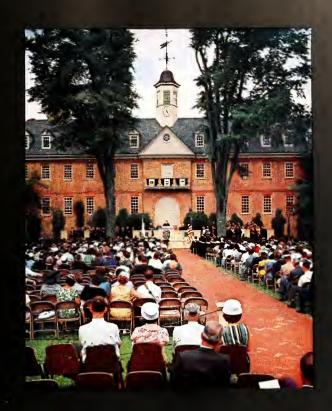

Winter brings to Williamsburg gloomy days. with in November, but soon the soft snow-Takes and the glow of Christmas act as a buffer to the cold. Studies are pressing, and lamps town late us we seek a compliment from a reprofessor and the knowledge of work All time. The busy schedule of classes and divities is neelected for the spirit of Christand as the Yule Loc is burned amidst red and and a tuxedoed fraternity serenades courst a white background. Soon the campus deserted for the holidays, and then we return here exams, but not without first experiming the giddy thrills and dubious comforts d tray-riding on Barrett Hill and the excitement of baskethall games. Exams lead into the oursely of Rush and a new semester as the snow melts, and we end a winter of studies al busy gaiety.

WINTER

As the air of Williamsburg is permeated by the pastel aroma of magnolia blooms, one can see a multitude of half-opened books, and daydreams in the eyes of William and Mary students. There are ice cream cones and laughter after dinner contrasted with the thoughtful stillness of the town as the five o'clock chimes ring. The swans in the lake at the Palace Gardens distract students reading there; and professors take their classes out of doors. There is new curiosity and activity in our studios, balauced with dances, heach parties, campus elections, and the Colonial Festival. But most especially, spring brings with its own warrath the warmth of friends taking a coffee break, and the rewards of goals striven for together. To some, spring brings more than friendship, as a fraternity sings to a pinned couple, and the halory night air wafts the music over the campus.

Summer brings humidity and heat, final exams, and farewells. Final block parties are held at Lake Mutoaka, while banquets and picnics culminate the activities of many groups. Academic buildings bulge with students seeking o cool place to study. Then comes the end of packing a year's accumulation of paraphanalia, leave-taking of friends who mean more than they know, and a final survey of the cramped summer jobs or vacations, knowing that they will return in the fall, while others will not; but all will take with them the wisdom of new exorriences. As black-robed seniors march across Wren Lawn for the last time, they know that the long-sought diploma can never represent all that they have gained from William and Mary,

SUMMER

DAVIS Y. PASCHALL

THE COLLEGE OF

WILLIAM AND MARY

DEDICATION

During this school year, William and Mary inaugurated its President, Dr. Davis Y. Paschall. It is to this man that we wish to dedicate the 1962 COLONIAL ECHO.

In only one year at William and Mary, Dr. Paschall has become a vital and beloved part of the college community. The inauguration ceremony itself was symbolic of his relation to William and Mary. The tradition of the Queen's Guard was part of the same tradition which Dr. Paschall observed as a student here. The scholarship embodied in the academic procession reminded us of all our President's own achievements as a professional educator. Distinguished visitors carried with them the respect of many for Dr. Paschall, while the enthusiastic attendance of the students denoted their strong personal feeling for both the man and his administration here.

The feeling of admiration and affection for Dr. Paschall so often expressed by students, faculty, and administration is due to many things. It is the result of his co-operation with faculty and student endeavors. It grows out of his personal interest and faith in each student. It is due to Mrs. Paschall's hospitality and graciousness. It is because his guidance has been wise and sympathetic. It is the inevitable result of unselfish devotion to the College, its principles and its students.

Dr. Paschall has consistently endeavored to balance the intellectual, athletic, extra-curricular, and social aspects of William and Mary. His personal support is often witnessed in his attendance at plays and concerts, out-of-town ball games, pep rallies, and teas and receptions. Despite the heavy demands on his time, Dr. Paschall has always found time to support the activities of the students, to work with the faculty and to be really aware of the students as individuals.

It is for these reasons that we dedicate the 1962 Colonial Echo to President Davis Y. Paschall.

ACADEMIC LIFE AT

WILLIAM AND MARY

The routine of daily classes will soon be forgotten as the four short years spent at William and Mary fade into a memory, but the learning we acquire here will remain with us forever. Time may dull the other phases of college life, but our academic growth, the vital reason for our presence here, will continue to progress on the foundation which we are now building.

The major part which learning plays on our campus is evidenced by the student hurrying to the library with an armload of books on a winter afternoon; the two philosophy majors involved in a seminar discussion, apparently oblivious to the world around them; the crowds who swarm to

The many clubs and organizations on the William and Mary campus contribute to the academic atmosphere and provide an opportunity for students to share their common interests.

As the university is the center of academic life, so is academic life the center of the university. At William and Mary it is a nucleus around which all else is built.

THE BOARD OF VISITORS

Within the royal Charter of the College of William and Mary, established in 1693, one notes prominent mention of eighteen men. Of these individuals it is written that they were "to be for ever the true and midoubted visitors and governers;" that they would hold "power... to make statutes and ordinances for the good government of the said College..." In March, 1906, one again finds in the Approval of "The Transfer to the State" worthy attention given this group. These records accord that the Board of Visitors consists of members, of which the State Superintendent of Public Instruction is ex officio, who "shall generally direct the affairs of the college."

In order to accommodate for the new junior colleges in Petersburg and Newport News, the governing body was increased in 1960 to include 45 members. Appointed by the Governor of Virginia and confirmed by the General Assembly, they serve for four terms.

Six Standing Committees contribute to the functioning of the Board as a whole. James M. Robertson presently serves as Rector for the Board, assuming responsibility of exercising powers and conducting business in their absence. He also holds two chairmanships—that of the Executive Committee and of the Committee on Honorary Degrees.

T. Edward Temple chairmans the Finance Committee; and H. Lester Hooker, the Education Committee, which considers and makes recommendations to the Board on matters affecting educational policies and the instructional organization of the five units comprising the College. The Divisions Committee is under the direction of Edward P. Simpkins, Jr.; the Buildings and Grounds Committee, Dr. J. Asa Shield.

The president of each of the five colleges reports to William and Mary's Chancellor, Alvin Duke Chandler, who, in turn, works with the Board of Visitors.

Left to Right: T. Edward Temple, Frank Ernst, W. Fred Duckworth, W. W. Wilkerson, W. Brooks George, James M. Robertson, Rector, R. William Arthur, Vice-Rector, J. Asa Shield, John P. Harper, J. B. Woodward, Jr., Charles K. Hutchens, Edward P. Simpkins, Jr., M. Carl Andrews

Alvin Duke Chandler, a former President of the College of William and Mary, last year took his place among the many distinguished Chancellors of the College. Numbering among such outstanding men as George Washington and John Tyler, as well as several Archbishops of Canterbury, Chancellor Chandler has successfully met the challenge which awaited him upon his appointment to an office for which the duties have been substantially changed and enlarged.

The office of Chancellor now entails the overall co-ordination of planning and activities to insure a wider administrative authority over the Colleges of William and Mary—Richmond Professional Institute, Norfolk College of William and Mary, and the two newly established junior colleges, Bland Junior College and Christopher Newport Junior College, both opened this fall. Chancellor Chandler has a unique first-hand knowledge of students and their activities through his experience as President of the College. He and his wife often entertained the students in their home.

His busy schedule now includes visits to the various divisions of the College, conferences with their administrative officials, and numerous meetings with the Board of Directors and the Board of Visitors.

The office of Chancellor of the Colleges of William and Mary has, in a twoyear period of development, become a vital part of the operating system of the College.

THE CHANCELLOR

THE PRESIDENT

This year marked the inauguration of Dr. Davis Y. Paschall as the twenty-third President of the College of William and Mary. The inaugural ceremony was co-ordinated with the October Homecoming festivities, signifying Dr. Paschall's place among the students and alumni. The processional, including 222 delegates from institutions of higher learning, learned societies, and special organizations, represented a distinguished group whose purpose it was to honor a man who has made great contributions to the field of education.

Dr. Paschall, a professional educator and an alumnus of the College, provides the faculty and student body with wise and able guidance. His sincere interest in student activity is evidenced by his presence at an overwhelming number of functions, while the southern hospitality displayed by his gracious wife leaves the doors of the President's House ever open to students and visitors. President Paschall's enthusiastic and warm spirit serves as a guiding light to the student hody in all its endeavors—scholastic, social, and athletic.

Under his outstanding leadership, both the students and faculty of the College look forward to a number of years of great achievement in all areas of college life.

THE SENIOR

As the Class of 1962 prepares to terminate its undergraduate days at William and Mary, many memories are brought to consciousness.

Entering Orientation Week with some trepidation and bravado, we soon learned our way around the campus, and registered for our first college classes. The excitement of rush and new activities soon kept us busy, as we also began to work for the high academic average which the class has always maintained. Due Week taught us the college priorities and Lord Botetourt's inscription as we bowed and scraped in our beanies. A record number of freshmen ran for office as our class filled the campus with posters. We chose Steve Tatem to lead our activities, such as the Freshman-Sophomore Dance and the Class Tea. During our freshman year, we also worked on our first Homecoming floats, saw our class athletes develop, and conducted a thousand pranks.

After a spirited start in campus life and scholarship, the Class of '62 became sophomores. Greg Tweet led us in conducting Duc Week, and we also held a dance with the juniors. This was the year, too, when we took our turn at helping the freshmen adjust to college life. Bill Smith became the William and Mary Indian. Yet, as we signed up for our majors, we knew our upperclass years were yet to come.

Our junior year brought concentrated work in our major fields and new leadership in publications, dormitory life, and other activities, and members of the Class of '62 were chosen as Student Government and Women Students' Cooperative Government Association leaders. Spring convocation saw our efforts honored with the selection of Mortar Board and Omicron Delta Kappa members, and many were tapped for other honoraries.

Now we are seniors, participating in each phase of college life for the last time. Our academic endeavors were acknowledged with a large Phi Beta Kappa class, and we have carried the responsibility for a large portion of campus activities. Paul Bankes was our President, and our meetings were primarily concerned with choosing our gradua ion speaker and class gift, and planning for senior graduation activities. Graduation draws close, and we can look back with satisfaction, and to the future with anticipation. Our membership in the Class of 62 had brought many responsibilities, friendships, and honors. Its enthusiastic spirit was part of the mold of our individual careers at William and Mary.

JUNIOR ASSEMBLY

Members of the Junior Class saw themselves nearing graduation this year as they officially began work in their fields of concentration. Studies were supplemented by the outstanding contributions of many class members to campus activities, publications, and athletics. The class as a whole looked forward to the spring elections and to the Honors Convocation, when Mortar Board, Omicron Delta Kappa, and other honoraries would recognize their efforts.

The Class of '63 cooperated with Student Government in many ventures, and made plans for a spring boat party of their own.

SOPHOMORE ASSEMBLY

As a unit comprising part of the whole student body, the sophomore class has contributed its leadership and active support to the various phases of current student government operations and plans for future reorganization. In addition to its role as a part of the college organism, the Class of 1964 has conducted independent functions such as the Sophomore Class tea, social activities, and services including an informative Newsletter in the Flat Hat to increase class awareness and thereby maintain the personality of the class. Most notable among the responsibilities of any sophomore class at William and Mary is that of orienting and entertaining the incoming freshmen with a series of colorful Duc Week events. The class of 1964 fulfilled this tradition with particular zeal, reflecting the spirit of their own freshman days.

FRESHMAN CLASS ASSEMBLY

The first day of college was filled with confusion and doubt for many Freshmen, but they soon found that they had no time to consider their apprehensions. Orientation Week with its tests, meetings, parties, and registration passed in a flash, and they soon found themselves struggling through mid-semester exams. With the completion of this ordeal, they were old hands at the college business, and decided to try a new field—that of politics. Covering every available tree with campaign posters, filling Phi Beta Kappa Hall with speeches and demonstrations, the frosh finally chose Dave Lutz to lead them through the rest of the year.

Immediately plans were made for a Christmas dance, with the promise of more to follow. The class of '65 proved to be active on eampus, and concluded a successful year with a bright outlook for their next three years at William and Mary.

ORGANIZATIONS INTRODUCTION

Green and gold beanies bob in the autumn sunlight as Freshmen walk from class to class, as the rhythm of a new schedule pounds out on the worn brick walks. Darkness comes. Lights glow from campus buildings and along the walks. Groups of students pass hurriedly through the cool evening air. The night is Interest Night when clubs and organizations of William and Mary present themselves to the student body—a vivid introduction of purpose and plans for the coming year's session. The purpose? To gain membership; to instill within these members the enjoyment of additional learning; to provide them with leadership training and with increased motivation for study; and to extend within them a common purpose of working creatively for the betterment of a collegiate interest.

Interest Night is long over and evidences of campus activities are brightly displayed. Campaign posters show healthy class rivalry in nearing elections. Signs stream from dormitory bulletin boards, Marshall-Wythe hallways and the Wigwam welcoming attendance to lectures, meetings, or discussions sponsored by a campus group. Football pep rallies liven College corner and Phi Beta's doors usher in a new season of concerts and drama productions. In the Campus Center a photographer busily works as students wait to be immortalized for the COLONIAL ECHO. Flat Hat staff members rush to meet the Friday morning deadline and the snapping sound of typewriters epps from the Royalist room.

Purpose fulfilled. And such a wide purpose. As the school year closes and exams approach, we realize that much has been gained, so much has been done, so quickly have the months passed. Next year?

Thomas Johnson
President of the Student Body

STUDENT GOVERNMENT 1961-1962

William and Mary's student government has undertaken an all-inclusive re-evaluation of its goals, rights and responsibilities this year. The whole program of endeavor has been geared toward a more purposeful organization which would assume a more vital position in student life. By drafting a new Constitution based on lessons of past experience coupled with innovations in direct response to student desires, William and Mary's student government is reinforcing its effectiveness.

In addition to these new phases of activity, student government has continued its duties as a promotion agency of pancampus events. Under its auspices, William and Mary coeds enjoyed another year highlighted by Homecoming festivities, Penny Coed benefit for the Campus Chest, and Spring Finals Weekend. Throughout the year, committees handled campus elections and dealt with varied problems which arose. Another facet of the new, more representative student government is the opening of its office every afternoon for direct contact with the students.

All of these duties and aims form the character of William and Mary student government.

JIM THOMAS Chairman, Men's Honor Council

THE MEN'S HONOR COUNCIL

The Honor System, organized at William and Mary in 1779, is one of the cherished priorities of the College. It furnishes the environment wherein students may learn to handle wisely the increased privileges and responsibilities of college life.

Upon matriculation, every William and Mary student must pledge that he will neither cheat, lie, steal, nor tolerate such behavior among his fellow students during his stay at the College. Responsibility for the maintenance of the system rests upon the student body and upon each student individually.

As part of the election committee of the Student Government, both Councils count ballots of all Student Government elections. Basic duties of the Men's and Women's Honor Councils also included the proceedings at trials for honor offenses and investigations.

Monthly meetings were held jointly with the Women's Honor Council to discuss policy and procedure. Both groups worked to coordinate more thoroughly the communication of ideas and plans and methods of procedure.

The members of the Men's Honor Council this year included: Jim Thomas, Chairman; Lynn Shaw, Vice-Chairman; Tom Bosserman, Secretary; Reiss Tatum, Senior Representative; Carl Zavitkovsky and Dean Flippo, Junior Representatives; and Rogers Hardy and "Jeep" Bryant, Sophomore Representatives.

THE WOMEN'S HONOR COUNCIL

The purpose of the Honor System of the College is to instill among the members of the student body a high sense of honor in academic work and personal conduct.

The Honor Councils consist of sixteen students duly elected by the student body for the purpose of administration of the Honor System. During Orientation Week, the members of the Men's and Women's Honor Councils help freshman students to become acquainted with the various aspects of the Honor System and its operation at William and Mary.

A major undertaking of both Conneils this year was the issuing of a new brochure, detailing the structure of the Honor System. The purpose of the brochure was to give emphasis to the Honor System and to clarify further the practices and procedures of the Honor System and the student's relation to it.

For the first time, elections for new members to the Women's Honor Council were conducted by petition, rather than by nomination through WSCGA.

This year the Women's Honor Council members were: Virginia Yoder, Chairman; Lynn Eads, Vice-Chairman; Patricia Pound, Secretary; Mary Ruth O'Halloran, Senior Representative; Pat Foutz and Charlotte Savage, Junior Representatives; and Karen Back and Cynthia Peery, Sophomore Representatives.

VIRGINIA YODER Chairman, Women's Honor Council

WOMEN STUDENTS' COOPERATIVE

Shiras Elliott Chairman, Executive Council

In order that women students may work more closely with and cooperate with the faculty and administration, three councils exist as the basis of the Women Students' Cooperative Government Association. Representatives from the women students to these committees are elected annually by popular vote. The chairmen, who are seniors, live in a Landrum suite which adjoins the WSCGA office.

The Executive Council serves as a coordinator for the three councils and has the responsibility of women's elections, finances, correspondence; printing of the WSCGA Handbook; and meetings of the Association. The purpose of the meetings is to discuss the business of the Association, receive suggestions from women students, and to clear up any questions concerning rules. Annually, in conjunction with the Judicial Committee, the Executive Council selects three members of the Faculty Advisory Committee.

The Judicial Council handles the formation, administration, and enforcement of the womens' social rules and the effective organization of dormitory life. The Council deals with those cases reported to it and gives penalties in proportion to the offenses. It has jurisdiction over all violations of social rules.

The Women's Honor Council works in conjunction with the Men's Honor Council in the presentation and upholding of our Honor System. It exists as a Council of WSCGA because it deals with the women students who constitute the government. It is the duty of this Council to investigate all suspected violations of the Honor Code, and to recommend a penalty if a woman student is found guilty. The Council also conveys the meaning and responsibility of the Honor System throughout the year by means of lectures, articles in college publications, and individual instruction.

Other functions of WSCGA include participation in the orientation program of the college; awarding of yearly scholarships on the basis of need, scholarship, and service rendered to the college; planning and coordinating the Summer School Womens' Student Government; cooperating with the College Administration in selecting sponsors and Ludwell house presidents; and sponsorship of various social functions, such as the Christmas Wassail.

The Women Students' Cooperative Government Association thus promotes the ideals of responsible self-government in community living.

Phi Beta Kappa, the oldest Greek-Letter fraternity in America, was founded on December 5, 1776 at the College of William and Mary. For over a century and a half, election to Phi Beta Kappa has been a recognition of intellectual capacities well employed and an indication of potential for future distinction. The Greek letters PBK, which are the initials of the Greek motto "Love of wisdom the guide of life," are indicative of this organization's dedication to the cultivation of the intellect and insistence upon the essential dignity and rationality of man.

Alpha Chapter of Virginia, which first met in the Apollo Room of the Raleigh Tavern, had many members who distinguished themselves in public life. Among them were U.S. Senators, judges of Virginia's highest court, and members of the Supreme Court of the United States, including John Marshall, first Chief Justice. Membership in the original society at William and Mary increased until 1781 when the approach of Cornwallis' army forced the closing of the College. Revived in 1851 and again in 1893, the chapter has since been in continuous existence. Today the national organization of Phi Beta Kappa has 164 chapters and a living membership of approximately 155,000.

The new members of Alpha Chapter were initiated on December 5, anniversary of the founding of the fraternity. After the initiation there was a dinner for members and their guests, followed by a public meeting in Phi Beta Kappa Memorial Auditorium and a reception in the Dodge Room. Dr. Ernest J. Simmons, renowned critic and biographer of Russian writers and former professor at Harvard, Cornell, and Columbia, spoke on "Pasternak and the Crisis in Soviet Literature."

PHI BETA KAPPA

PRESIDENT'S AIDES

The thirteen President's Aides are announced by W. M. Jones, Dean of Faculty, at the annual Autumn Honors Convocation. They serve the President as an advisory board and perform such other duties as he requests of them. In addition to their major role as personal representatives of the President, the Aides escort the President's official party in all academic processions. Such occasions include: William and Mary's twenty-third Presidential Inauguration in the fall, Commencement, Charter Day, Opening of the Session, Graduation, and other important campus functions. The Aides also serve as guides for the distinguished visitors on Burgesses Day.

Ten of the President's Aides were selected because of their leadership positions: Presidents of the Junior and Senior classes, Chairmen of the Men's and Women's Honor Councils, Chairmen of WSCGA's Judicial and Executive Councils, President of Omicron Delta Kappa, President of Mortar Board, and Editor-in-Chief of the Flat Hat. The President of the Student Government serves as Chief Aide. In addition, this year there are also three members-at-large who were selected by President and Mrs. Davis Young Paschall.

Each of these distinguished students is awarded a gold medal designed in 1935 by John Stuart Bryan, founder of the President's Aides, as a symbol of their honorary position.

Omicron Delta Kappa, a National Leadership Honor Society for Men, founded in 1914 at Washington and Lee University, recognizes and encourages the achievement of exemplary character and superior quality in scholarship and leadership. Membership is as much an obligation and responsibility in citizenship as it is a mark of highest distinction and honor. The purposes of the Society are to recognize men who have attained a high standard of efficiency in collegiate activities and to inspire others to strive for conspicuous attainments along similar lines; to bring together the most representative men in all phases of college life; and to bring together the members of the faculty and student body on a basis of mutual interest and understanding.

Members are tapped at the Fall and Spring Honors Convocations on the basis of achievement in scholarship, athletics, social organizations, religious activities, publications, drama, music, and other cultural activities.

Under the supervision of Dennis Thompson, president, Lynn Shaw, vice president, and J. W. Lambert, secretary-treasurer, Omicron Delta Kappa has worked toward further achievements of its purpose. A Leadership Forum was held to discuss the various aspects and problems of leadership with the officers of various campus organizations. It also issued a questionnaire by which the students evaluated the teaching techniques of their professors. An American biography was donated to the library.

Omicron Delta Kappa has been active in the moulding of campus opinion, in rendering service to the College, and in upholding social, cultural, and moral values. Most important, it has translated these values and ideals into terms of everyday campus and community living, and has endeavored to give them real meaning for the rest of the student body.

MORTAR BOARD

Mortar Board, a National Women's Honorary Society, was founded in 1918, and came to William and Mary in 1928. Outstanding women in the Junior class are tapped at the Spring Honors Convocation, the selection being based on scholarship, leadership, and service. The women who fulfill these qualifications must also have an overall grade average that is higher than the overall average of all women students.

Mortar Board, under the leadership of its president, Dorcas Brown, undertakes many activities which promote scholarship, leadership, and service among the women students during the year. To promote scholarship, Mortar Board organized "Freshmen Study Helps" to aid freshmen in profitably studying, organizing an essay, and preparing for exams. To honor outstanding women students, award tokens were given at the Spring Honors Convocation, and the annual scholarship was given to a deserving underclass woman on the campus. This money was raised by different projects, such as the china display.

To promote activities on campus, Mortar Board held two panel discussions to stimulate interest in topics pertinent and important to campus life. Members of Mortar Board and other campus citizens participated in these discussions. Mortar Board also worked closely with the Concert and Lecture Series to arouse student interest, ascertain student opinion on the concerts and lectures, sell tickets, and distribute posters.

Mortar Board also served at the tea in honor of Dr. Davis Paschall prior to his inauguration and the Society presented the traditional Yule Log Ceremony in conjunction with Omicron Delta Kappa.

The members of Mortar Board are the ideals of the Society incorporated into a body which practices service, leadership, and scholarship as well as promoting it in campus life.

In order to introduce the incoming freshman class to college life, sponsors and group leaders are appointed annually. The seventy sponsors chosen must show evidence of leadership and character.

For three weeks in May, the sponsors attend clinics where they discuss the relations of the freshmen to the different functions and branches of the administration. This extensive training program is designed to enable the sponsors to meet whatever problems the freshmen may encounter.

In September, each sponsor is assigned a group of seven to nine freshmen. The sponsor guides his group through the tests, receptions, and meetings scheduled for that first week, in addition to conducting much of the testing program.

This year the sponsors are led by Marilyn Sterner, head sponsor: Kevin Farley, assistant head sponsor: Gary McGee, head group leader; and Tom Bosserman, assistant head group leader.

PI DELTA EPSILON

"The purpose of the fraternity is to elevate the cause of journalism, to foster mutual welfare of student publications, to develop the truest fraternal spirit among its members, to encourage loyalty to their Alma Mater, and to reward the journalists working on the student publications by admission to its membership." This is the statement of purpose found in the handbook of Pi Delta Epsilon. The fraternity also seeks to establish a code of ethics among the student publications.

Twice each year, in spring and fall, new members are elected. Following tapping, these journalists are presented at the Honors Convocation. Those elected must have made some exceptional contribution to journalism and must have maintained a 1.4 average. They may be either undergraduates, alumni, or members of the faculty. Pi Delta Epsilon is the largest national collegiate journalism fraternity.

The fraternity's main project this year was an effort to publish a humour magazine for the William and Mary campus. They also held, in cooperation with the Student Publications Committee, the annual publications banquet for all members of the staffs of the publications and the radio station. At this banquet in the late spring, Pi Delta Epsilon presented its awards for excellent journalistic performance.

Pi Delta Epsilon was headed this year by its officers; Donald Lloyd, president; Mary Margaret Mann, vice president; Beth Poole, secretary; Jerry Van Voorhis, treasurer; and Mary Ellen Lytton, historian.

STUDENT PUBLICATIONS COMMITTEE

The maintenance of a high degree of excellence for William and Mary publications is the objective of the Student Publications Committee. The realization of this objective is brought about by informal monthly meetings of representatives from the various campus publications. This group represents a coordinating body which discusses questions pertinent to the different publications and the various problems they share in common. These Committee meetings provide a conducive atmosphere in which to bring forth new ideas and methods for obtaining the goal of excellence in campus publications. The Committee does not eensor or eontrol the editorial policy of the publications. Instead, it offers suggestions which are, in turn, considered by the publication in question.

This year the Committee was comprised of the following members: Jo Ann Dotson, chairman, appointed by the president of the student body with the approval of the Assembly; Mary Ellen Lytton, the editor of the Colonial Ecno: Jerry Van Voorhis, editor of the Flat Hat; Sandy McNair, editor of the Royalist; and Tom Johnson, the president of the student body. The faculty advisors are Dr. Alexander Kallos and Dr. Cecil McCulley.

Each spring the Student Publications Committee, in conjunction with Pi Delta Epsilon, the honorary journalism fraternity, sponsors the Publications Banquet. At this affair various awards are presented and Miss William and Mary is announced as is the Colonial Ecuo dedicatee.

During mid-spring the Committee elects the editor, the advertising manager, the business manager, and the circulation manager of the Flat Hat; the editor and business manager of the Colonial Echo; the editor-in-chief and the art editor of the Royalist; and the editor-in-chief and the managing editor of the Seminar. The Committee also supervises membership elections and appointments on the various staffs. These functional duties of the Committee represent one of the various methods they employ to insure the standard of excellence.

The officers of the Student Publications Committee were: Chairman, Jo Ann Dotson and Secretary, Mary Ellen Lytton.

The staff of the Colonial Echo has attempted to capture the essence of William and Mary in pictures and words while maintaining a sense of dignity in keeping with the traditions of William and Mary. In addition to producing this yearbook, the editors and staff of the Colonial Echo have taken part in the Publications Banquet, the Publications Forum, and the Miss William and Mary contest.

The planning, work, and thoroughness which have made our objectives a reality also make the COLONIAL Ecno staff proud to present this book to the student body.

Organization was the key word of the COLONIAL Ecno staff this year. Junior editors assembled last spring to learn their respective duties, while the Editor-in-Chief, Mary Ellen Lytton, began the arduous task of drawing layouts. She was aided in all her endeavors by Jo Ann Dotson, Assistant Editor, by Doug Wood, and by an Editorial Board composed of Hale Almy, Ann Christ, and Charlotte Nevin. The Editorial Board was innovated just this year, as was the idea of assistants for the Junior Editors.

Following a summer-long interchange of correspondence between Mary Ellen and the staff, school re-opened and the real work began. Owen Knopping, Business Manager, handled the complicated finances of the operation. Rhea Neuroth, Class Editor, worked with Colonna Studios in class pictures, while Gary Young

H. Mason Sizemore

Managing Editor

The position of the Flat Hat as the leading organ of eampus activity and as a historical record of the College has been greatly strengthened this year by Editor Jerry Van Voorhis. Prudent innovations of the paper's organization include increased activity of associate editors, development of an extensive exchange program, and the ereation of an editorial study commission. This commission, directed by Carol Duke and Judy Jorg, has researched editorial material prior to publication and has been responsible for conducting polls to obtain suggestions for improving the Flat Hat. New policy practices were also initiated. The paper as a whole is more streamlined than in previous years. News and feature articles are less formal and editorials are more directly concerned with campus issues. As a result of these changes and an increased staff now numbering seventy people, the Flat Hat is an efficient, more business-like paper.

Assisting Jerry in coordinating policy and insuring harmonious staff operation are H. Mason Sizemore, Managing Editor; and Sandy McNair and Mary Margaret Mann, Associate Editors. The other editors who are equally responsible for producing a laudable weekly resume of campus life are: Cathy Day, News Editor;

Dr. Cecil M. McCulley has been the Flat Hat advisor.

This year was of further significance for it marked the Flat Hat's 50th Anniversary. During the celebration, stimulating activities were initiated: previous newspapers were displayed and leading personalities spoke. To highlight the Flat Hat's half century of news reporting, a special edition was devoted to the past fifty years of College history, ranging from academic and student life to sports and restoration activities affecting the College. To promote reader interest at other times during the year, events of special importance, such as the Inauguration, athletic season previews, travel-study in Europe, and the role of women in college were dealt with.

Thus the Flat Hat has succeeded in fulfilling its objective of binding together the generations of William and Mary by provoking activity of thought within the bounds of tradition.

SEMINAR

The Seminar serves the college community as an organ through which are channelled new ideas and theories regarding various topics and issues. The Seminar is basically an intellectual magazine written by both students and faculty.

The main purpose of the Seminar is to promote interest in original thought. Not only does it provide an opportunity for the individual to express himself and his ideas and theories, but it also proves to be very beneficial and thought-provoking for fellow students and faculty members.

EXECUTIVE

The 1960 construction of a new Campus Center for William and Mary provided extensive facilities for student recreation, publications, and activities. Student committees aid Mr. John S. Sturgell, the full-time Director and Co-ordinator, in managing the Center and in suggesting new activities. John Black was Mr. Sturgell's Student Assistant this year, and these two comprise the Executive Committee. The Student Assistant is also the head of the Program Committee, which includes the five committee chairmen.

EXECUTIVE COMMITTEE
J. Sturgell, J. Black, Programs Committee Chair-

PUBLICITY

The Publicity Committee, with Jean Garde as chairman, keeps the Student Body up-to-date on tournaments, displays, movies, and any other Campus Center activities. This is done through the newssheet, "Smoke Signals," which is edited and published weekly. In addition to this publication, the Publicity Committee is in charge of any other releases concerning the Campus Center. These endeavors serve as the vital link between the Center management and the Student Body.

SCABBARD AND BLADE

RESERVE OFFICERS

The Reserve Officers Training Corps branch was established at William and Mary in 1947. The four-year college course is divided into two main programs: the two-year basic course for freshmen and sophomores, and the more advanced second two-year course for juniors and seniors.

The basic two-year course consists of training in map reading and aerial photography, small arms, introduction to basic, tactics, courses in American history and National Security, and drill periods. The advanced course for juniors and seniors includes orientation to different branches of the Army, instruction in logistics and military law, orientation to the position of the United States in the world, and the Army's position in international relations.

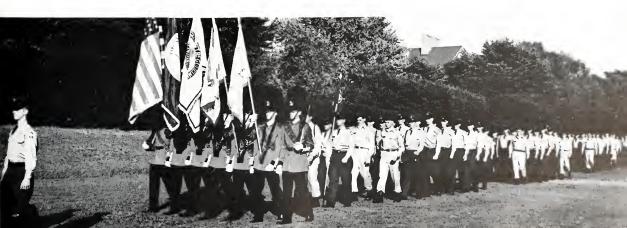

TRAINING CORPS

After their junior year, the cadets go to summer camp at Fort Bragg, North Carolina, which serves as a field laboratory for military tactics. Bivouacs, map problems, field exercises, and the operation of the newest equipment are all included in the summer program.

After the ROTC student is graduated, he is a candidate for appointment as a Second Lieutenant in the United States Army.

The Queen's Guard, a special drill unit of the ROTC, was approved by President David Y. Paschall of February 8, 1961. This organization consists of from 60-62 men whose appearance is always striking with their black Grenadier's cap, scarlet tunic, black trousers, and white gloves.

The Student branch of the National Education Association is the professional organization for college and university students preparing to teach. Each college chapter functions under the auspices of the national and state organization.

Such an organization should deepen the interest of capable students in teaching as a career; encourage the eareful selection and guidance of persons admitted to teacher education programs; and, through higher standards of preparation and the dissemination of information, contribute to a reasonable balance in teacher supply and demand. A chapter also serves the needs and interests of its members by introducing them to professional associations and providing an opportunity to support the policies and programs of these groups on state, local, and national levels. Such activity encourages students to study professional problems and standards; then to develop leadership and cooperation for use in improving the schools and community.

These ideals were embodied in the program set up for the year by Gail Crabill, President; Sue Robertson, Vice President; Jackie Fleming, Secretary; and Barbara Wiegand, Treasurer. Speakers covered such topics as certification, gifted and retarded children, and what to expect in the first year of teaching. Films, a banquet, a skit on professional ethics, and a panel discussion by faculty and exchange students on "Education Around the World" supplemented the monthly meetings.

The William and Mary Chapter of the Student Education Association was represented at the state convention, where Gail Crabill presided as state president, and Mrs. Margaret Winder was chosen as state sponsor, in addition to her duties here. Sue Robertson was state editor of the "Newsletter", while Julie Kneen was elected state secretary-treasurer for 1962.

STUDENT EDUCATION ASSOCIATION

INTERCOLLEGIATE DEBATE COUNCIL

The Intercollegiate Debate Council of the College is a member of a system of similar organizations and councils which draws membership from colleges and universities throughout the nation. The importance of such an activity rests primarily with the idea that debate tournaments offer the only intercollegiate academic competition. In addition to this, the Council offers students the opportunity to acquaint themselves with public speaking, current topics, and the views of others.

In order that all debates be of the same nature, representatives from every participating school met and decided upon the resolution for this past year. All debates this season were based upon the question— "Resolved; Organizations should be placed under the jurisdiction of Anti-Trust legislation."

This year, the Conneil took part in nineteen contests. The first one was with Wake Forest, after which they tied for sixth place out of a field of thirty-one teams competing at St. Joseph's. Later in the season, the debaters participated in a six-round tournament at Tufts, followed by the Wake Forest Dixie Tournament.

The members of the Council are chosen according to their proficiency at public speaking, and their ability to express themselves clearly. Research into the current topic is extensive and time-consuming. Members constantly revise their speeches, and often write to outside sources, in order to establish a better delivery of the subject. The subject remains unchanged for the whole year.

The Council is comprised of about sixteen members, who partition themselves into several two-man teams, which compete with similarly-constructed teams from other schools. About one-half of the teams from each college debate the affirmative side of the question, while the other half argues from a negative standpoint.

This year the officers, under the advisorship of Mr. Donald McConkey, were: president, Steve Mansfield; secretary-treasurer, Dot Young; debate coach, Glen Kirk. Tony Steinmeyer was the coach for Tau Kappa Alpha, the freshman debate team.

CHANNING FORUM

WILLIAM & MARY

> T H E A T R

The William and Mary Theatre not only provides an outlet for all students wishing to participate in any phase of theatre, but also works to bring to the campus and community superior dramatic presentations. Concentration is not on Broadway shows alone; for there is an effort to present different types of shows, usually one classic, one play by an American author, one musical, and perhaps a play of foreign origin. This year the William and Mary Theatre was privileged to produce two student-written plays in addition to their usual schedule.

Anyone participating in a theatre production in any way is part of the William and Mary Theatre. Tryouts are open to the whole campus on a competitive basis, and there are innumerable backstage responsibilities which provide valuable experience in many fields. Those students not belonging directly to the theatre group comprise an equally valuable aspect of this activity by being a responsive audience.

Though all plays are essentially student-produced, the cast and erew receive valuable assistance from Mr. Howard Scammon, Director; Mr. Frank Staroba, Playwright; Mr. Russell Hastings, Designer; and Mr. Al Haak, Technical Director. The technical aspects of play production are greatly enhanced by the theatre in Phi Beta Kappa Hall, which is renowned as one of the best equipped college theatres in the country.

Performances by professional troupes or by touring actors are also sponsored by the William and Mary Theatre. This is part of the efforts of this group to bring superior theatrical entertainment to the campus, in addition to providing creative opportunities for the students.

DR. CARL A. FEHR, Director

WILLIAM AND

The William and Mary Choir is known not only for its musical endeavors, but also for its ability to present an attractive picture to an audience. This is due to the spirited and precise direction of Dr. Carl A. Fehr, who instills in the members the necessary drive to work a concert into a rewarding experience through discipline and directed emotional outlet. The choir, being a part of an educational institution, contributes to the music education of its members and the audience by performing new and different works. The singing of the William and Mary Hymn at the commencement and termination of each Convocation also serves as a stimulus for school spirit.

A performance for Freshmen during Orientation Week was the Choir's first venture this year. The group then sang at the Williamsburg Lodge for the Peninsula Executive Club both in October and in May, in addition to traveling to Richmond's Mosque Theatre to sing for the Virginia Education Association Convention in November. Under the outstanding direction of Carl A. ("Pappy") Fehr, the William and Mary Chorus is a delightful addition to the many campus cultural activities. Composed of approximately sixty girls, the Chorus serves as a proving ground and means of gaining experience for those aspiring to the ranks of the Choir. Auditions are held each semester for freshmen and upperclass women. Those displaying an ability and interest in music are selected.

The group practices four hours each week throughout the year in preparation for its two major performances. These are as part of the Christmas Concert and the Spring Concert, which is usually presented in April. In addition to these two performances, the student body cagerly awaits the coming of the warm spring weather which brings with it the Wednesday evening concerts on the Wren Building lawn.

The selections of the Chorus include a large repertoire of music, ranging from classical to the lighter popular numbers and the traditional folk songs. The programs, consisting of a balance between these two types, are aimed toward pleasing even the most selective concert-goer.

The devotion and hard work of the members of the Chorus not only create memorable productions for the audiences, but also provide for each member the warm satisfying experience of a job well done.

WILLIAM AND MARY CHORUS

WILLIAM AND MARY BAND

Arrayed in smart new uniforms the William and Mary Indian Band performed throughout a very eventful and interesting marching season. Animated formations and precision drills were routines of special interest executed by the Band. Outstanding among the shows given this fall were "The Priorities of President Paschall," honoring President Paschall's inauguration, and "The Birth of Jazz" in which the Band played arrangements tracing the development of jazz. The season was highlighted by a weekend trip to New York City and the Band's performance at West Point for the William and Mary vs. Army game.

Following the Thanksgiving Day in Richmond, the Band hung up its green and gold uniforms and moved indoors to begin practicing concert music. A spring concert is held every year in Phi Beta Kappa Auditorium. On the last three Wednesdays of the spring semester, informal concerts are held on the Wren lawn.

The Band is a co-educational organization, open to all students. It is the largest of all student groups on campus. Mr. Charles R. Varner, a graduate of Northwestern University, is in his ninth year of directing the marching and concert Band. Student Band Manager for this season is James Dreisigacker.

ORCHESIS

Orchesis is a modern dance group which enables its participants to indulge in all phases of the art of dance. Their particular field of endeavor is modern dance which is to classical dance what poetry is to prose. It is this abstract feeling which manifests itself in their interpretive studies of everyday themes.

The dancers apply their skills to choreography, costumes, and scenery to supplement actual interpretation of musical forms. Long hours of arduous practice are spent in a blend of work and pleasure. Intricate dance routines are formulated and practiced until the movements become so graceful as to imply fluid simplicity. Appropriate costumes are designed; lighting, stage and scenery techniques are explored until the composite produces a continuous program. All efforts come to fruition in the form of a show each spring which reveals the combined effect of their concerted talents.

MERMETTES

With the coming of the second semester, the pool in Blow Gymnasium is invaded three nights a week by the talented Mermettes and their faculty advisor, Miss Barrett. The Mermettes are members of the synchronized swimming group for women students displaying exceptional skill in swimming and diving. These girls create an entire show themselves by writing, choreographing, and selecting the music for their annual presentation. This year they were guided by President, Fran Marshall; Secretary, Judy Linton, and Treasurer, Bunny Becker.

The 1962 show, held on April 15, 16, 17, with the traditional matinee for children on April 14, emphasized femininity. The twelve numbers depicted interpretations of perfumes, and had such alluring titles as "Midnight," "Windsong," and "Hypnotique." The theme of femininity was carried through in the grand finale, which was done to the tune of "I Enjoy Being a Girl."

MAJORETTES

The majorettes, under the leadership of Betty Lou Anderson, head majorette, perform at all home football games, pep rallies, parades, and some away games. The girls arrange routines to suit the band programs and practice with the band before performances.

Majorettes are chosen during their freshman year by the upperclassmen on the squad on the basis of twirling ability and experience, cooperation, and eagerness to work. Girls remain on the squad for four years.

Promotion and support of William and Mary's athletic events is the purpose of the Pep Club, which is open to all students. Fall activities included the staging of pep rallies, administration of the cheerleaders, securing transportation for football games, and helping to coordinate halftime activities. Last year's prize purchase, Wampo, the Indian pony, was exhibited throughout the season. Officers this year were Gill Bartlett, President; Fred Bartlett, Vice President; Sambra Neet, Secretary; and Bill Smith, Treasurer.

Bill Jeffries helped in the field events. In Student Government senior Dave Poist represented this chapter. Crimson and gold jersies dominated play in the intramural fields as KA captured the touch football, wrestling, placekicking, and horseshoe championships in the first semester in a determined bid for the overall point trophy for the year.

As usual, social life at Alpha Zeta was packed with many highlights. Gloucester provided several memorable beach parties filled with fun and sun. The Christmas season brought its two annual highlights, the Black and White Ball and the Christmas serenade which found a jovial St. Nick distributing candy cames to all the good girls on campus. The peak of Alpha Zeta's social calendar was reached with the fifteenth annual Southern Ball and parade. All of these gala events were witnessed by our sweetheart, Mrs. Linda Cox.

Officers for the year were President, Calvin Cox; Vice President, Malcolm Lillywhite; Secretary, Bill Buyrn; and Treasurer, Jim Hunsucker.

In opening the 1961-62 year, President Howard Miller foresaw another successful year for the Brotherhood as the "Kappa Swiggers" wasted no time in fulfilling their role as the rockin'est frat on campus, ably aided by the Facinos. Meanwhile, diversity being Kappa Sig's middle name, other campus activities her was President of the Newman Club and brother Steinmeyer was a debater and member of Sigma Pi Sigma. Early in the year the newly initiated pledge class (nearly half of whom were to make Dean's List for the first semester) received the Elliot-Windsor-Usry trophy for "superior performance in the selection, training, and initiation of fraternity pledges." Soon afterwards came the Homecoming Weekend festivities and then the Kappa Sig Rathskeller party, done in the Ole German style. Several wild sorority parties and a few notorious weekend trips rounded out a "smashing" first semester.

In the campus political sphere Glen Morris assumed his duties as Vice President of the Student Body; Dick Swenson and Kirk Gooding, theirs as President and Vice President of the Junior Class; Dave Hunter, his as President of the Sophomore Class; and Bill Stewart and Ed Watters, theirs as Sophomore Class Assemblymen. In varsity sports, brothers Gooding, Corns, Harris, Hunter, Woollum, and Roy dominated basketball, In football were brothers Irby, Lesniak, Puskar, Driscoll, Corley, and Malarkey. Brother Franklin was on the swimming team, while brothers Irby, O'Hara, and Nickel participated in baseball. In other activities, brother Meag-

With better days coming by and by, could such great times as the Sweetheart Dance, the pledge brother beer party, and the Kappa Sig Weekend be far behind? These were but a few highlights of a second semester filled with good time and brotherhood from "Jocky-corner" to Jamestown Beach.

In closing another success-filled year, newly elected President William Beale reflected on the deep pride he held for Kappa Sigma. He saw that Kappa Sigs were leaders in all phases of campus life. He saw that this greatness came from stress on individuality and selectivity, as well as from a close brotherhood. He found himself truly proud.

LAMBDA

Lambda Chi Alpha started out the year with a great boost to its morale. For the second year in a row the American Inter-Fraternity Council Outstanding Fraternity Award was presented to the Lambda Chi brotherhood. This award, presented for the first time on this campus last year, has never left its place of distinction in the Lambda Chi Lodge. The fall also brought on the spectacular weekend parties, sorority parties, and the Thanksgiving weekend in Riehmond. Homecoming saw the Lambda Chi float win second place for its appropriateness and originality. The semester progressed with the annual Christmas Reading and

The second semester saw no letdown from the brotherhood. The weekend parties continued and plans for spring were in the making. With an ever studious eye for grades the brothers proceeded to make their Richmond Founders Day Ball, the Log Cabin Beach Spring Party, the Virginia Beach Weekend, and the Ft. Lauderdale Blast as highly enjoyable as ever. The year finished with not a doubt in any Lambda Chi's mind that it had been one of success and good times.

PHI KAP

Phi Kappa Tau was one of four fraternities founded at Miami of Ohio in 1906. Alpha Theta came to William and Mary in 1926 and since that time has enjoyed growing prosperity each year.

During first semester, in addition to our sorority "open houses" and combos, we established our Annual Christmas Dance. Our brothers have truly represented themselves in all phases of campus activity. Phil Van Kirk served as Vice President of the sophomore class, and Roger Hardy was the sophomore representative to the Honor Council. Mike Cremedas and Warren Haley were members in the band. Terry Browne, Doug Goheen, and Toby Sindt, all members of Theta Alpha Phi, honorary dramatics fraternity, were frequent performers in the William and Mary Theatre.

Sally Hathorne was elected Sweetheart and crowned at our Alimni Sponsored Sweetheart Dance at the Hotel Chamberlain. After second semester rush, the officers elected were; Ed Shanklin, President; Dave Long, Vice President; Phil Van Kirk, Secretary, and John Heenan, Treasurer. We were honored this year to host the Phi Kappa Tau Domain Conference this April. The pledges decorated for our Jamaica Party before being initiated in May. To round out the year, a few weekend trips to Virginia Beach were enjoyed by all.

With a successful pledge class, we are planning to do even better next year.

PI KAPPA

Pi Kappa Alpha, the fifth ranked fraternity in the nation, was founded at the University of Virginia in 1868. Gamma Chapter was founded at William and Mary three years later.

Gamma began the 61-62 school year under the leadership of President Robin Reighly and Vice President Gregg Evans. Socially, PiKA had started before the beginning of school with several parties during the summer. No time was wasted upon returning with full weekends beginning at once. October saw the "Hobo Party" and, of course, Homecoming weekend with the annual reception for alumni. The PiKA "Raid" float won third place in the Homecoming parade. The fraternity also enjoyed the "PiKA-burgers" and "PiKA dogs" prepared by its advisor, Colonel Marcus Gewinner. November saw a sorority party with Pi Phi, the annual "Hams" party and more food from the Colonel. December witnessed the Christmas party and the visit of Santa Claus and his memorable gifts. The semester closed with the annual Playboy Party.

Athletically, PiKA in the winter months battled to a third place tie in football and captured the free throw competition with Tom Brennan. In volleyball, the boys from No. 6 Fraternity Row ended up in a tie for second. In Varsity competition, PiKA is represented by Dick Kern on the football team and Gordon Baskerville on the swimming team.

Second Semester began with PiKA, under the Presidency of Gregg Evans and Vice President Tom Vice, taking twelve pledges in formal rush. These were: John Boberg, Dave Thomas, Wade Cheatum, Dick Weber, John Hazelgrove, Tom Yerkes, Jim Mojalesky, Mel Booker, John McCarthy, Joe Nevins, Art Henderson and Paul Zesman.

March saw the Founders Day Banquet and Dance and another sorority party. April will be remembered for the Hey Party and the beach parties. PiKA wound up the school year with the Virginia Beach weekend and the Prehistoric Party.

PI LAN

Pi Lambda Phi is engaged actively in the three athletic seasons. During the fall, she sports a football team of which this year Pete Latkin and Armen Bahadurian were considered as candidates for Interfraternity All Conference. On the Intercollegiate sports scene, Dick Grubb started, for the first time at William and Mary, a Cricket team, on which he and several other Pi Lamb members played. In the winter season, Glen Mann heads the Swimming Team, and Gil Bartlett captains the Varsity Rifle Team. The fraternity also engages in Volleyball, Badminton, Horseshoes, and Handball. Moving into the spring, the brothers also enjoy taking part in Interfraternity Softball and Track.

Turning to the Social Calendar, Pi Lambda Phi has continuously been the leader on the Row throughout the years with its many combos, sorority, and theme parties. The highlights during the year are the Halloween Party, the Christmas Party given with Kappa Kappa Gamma for underprivileged children, and the annual migration to Virginia Beach in the spring.

The Pi Lambda Phi brothers also figure prominently in campus affairs with Jerry Van Voorhis as editor of the Flat Hat, Paul Verkuil as president of the Interfraternity Council, Lynn Shaw as head of the ROTC, vice president of Omicron Delta Kappa, and vice chairman of the Honor Council, Gil Bartlett as president of the Pep Club, and Joe Blinick as a member of Phi Beta Kappa and president of Sigma Pi Sigma.

However, Pi Lambda Phi is more than a seasonal calendar of events. It derives its flavor and character from the day by day efforts of its members to live with one another in a true fraternity spirit.

SIGMA ALF

Sigma Alpha Epsilon, the first fraternity of the South, was founded in 1856 at the University of Alabama. Today, it is the largest fraternity in the nation; its chapters are located in 48 of the 50 states. Founded here in 1857, Virginia Kappa Chapter of SAE is the second oldest fraternity on the Row.

In accordance with this rich national and local heritage, our brotherhood takes pride in its members who have distinguished themselves in campus activities this year. Specifically, we look to Don Hardy, President of Scabbard and Blade, an organization founded here by an SAE. In academics, Dick Carling and Don Hardy are members of Eta Sigma Phi, the national honorary classics fraternity. H. C. Thaxton, a past editor of the Royalist, was elected to the SAE All-American football team. A spirit of community service was demonstrated by sizeable charity and blood donations at a Christmas visit to mental patients at Dunbar Hospital.

Social activity in the chapter has been intensive and varied. In the fall semester Miss Betty Lou Anderson was chosen Sweetheart of the fraternity and honored at a gala dinner-dance. The social calendar was further highlighted by the Christmas serenade, outstanding theme parties, and sorority get-togethers.

The spring semester started off with the election of H. C. Thaxton, President; Dave Smith, Vice President; and Larry Simpson, Treasurer. Under their leadership SAE pledged: Tucker Coleman, Clyde Culp, Jim Edwards, Tom Gardner, Ferd Hauslein, Hayes Huddleston, Jerry Jump, Kenny O'Brien, Rod St. Martin, Gary Wright, Alex White, and Gary Young.

These pledges shared with the brotherhood a great social semester, characterized by the annual Smoke Ring Dance, a weekend as guests of our Maryland University Chapter, a Virginia Beach Weekend, parties at Jamestown Beach, and both theme and sorority parties.

All in all, a fine year for SAE at William and Mary!

Sigma Nu was founded at Virginia Military Institute in 1869. The Epsilon Iota Chapter was established at William and Mary in 1922.

In the fall this year, Co-Captain Eric Erdossy was only one of thirteen Sigma Nus on the varsity football team this past season. Throughout the season, Eric excelled with his brilliant line play and received an honorable mention All-American award and first team All-Southern Conference laurels. Brother Erdossy also served as a President's Aide for the year.

Brothers Erdossy and Phillips were elected to the Scabbard and Blade, an honorary military society. Joe Hendrickson was Dormitory Manager for Taliaferro Hall. Sigma Nu had many brothers in eampus activities throughout the year. We were active in the Political Science Club, Varsity Club, Band, Physical Education

NU

Majors Club, Eta Sigma Phi, and various religious organizations.

Our social events kept us busy most of the year. Over Homecoming, many alumni returned for the weekend's festivities elimaxed by a buffet supper. The Christmas Serenade and White Star Formal were the highlights of the winter season. We gave our annual party for underprivileged children also at Christmas time. During the spring, we held our Sigma Nu weekend which was topped off by the White Rose Formal and the crowning of Ann Smith as our sweetheart. Weekend parties helped brighten up college life and gave us a break from the study grind. We were well represented on the track team, and also won the trophy for the top fraternity in intramural sports.

Our officers for the year were: President, Eric Erdossy; Vice President, Aubrey Goldberg: Secretary, Guy Overacre; and Treasurer, Joe Hendrickson.

SIGMA PHI

Sigma Phi Epsilon swings every season, all year. It is the old-fashioned ingredient, enthusiasm, that puts the Sig Ep pendulum in motion. It was this belief in an enthusiastic approach to college life that propelled Sig Ep into being almost four years ago. In an effort to provide the brotherhood with opportunities to exhibit excellence and exuberance in all phases of William and Mary life, the Sig Ep activity roster is varied and complete. At the head of the program is scholarship which we consider the backbone of our chapter. Aside from this year-round concern, there are other activities which are indigenous to the four seasons.

In the early fall we have an Indian Summer Beach Party for all those brothers and dates who have been studying all summer. At the end of October comes the important social event of the semester, our annual Founders Day Formal. In addition to the fall and winter social events, we give a Christmas Party for underprivileged children, usually with Gamma Phi Beta Sorority. For the annual Fall

EPSILON

Homecoming festivities, a float is built at about four o'clock the morning before the parade with straight pins and chewing gum. During the late fall and winter, we keep busy with intramural sports and caroling at Christmas.

Our officers for the year were elected in March. They are: Lloyd Rogers, President; Henry Benson, Vice President; Terrill Lady, Secretary; Wendell Schmidt, Comptroller; and Stephen Lopez, Historian.

Every spring the fraternity undertakes volunteer work at Dunbar which is very rewarding. The warm weather gets Sig Eps out in droves for softball victories, the Sweetheart Serenade, Matoaka Lake (art study) and our annual Easter Egg Hunt for needy children with Pi Beta Phi, the Golden Hearts Ball, and the annual Mardi Gras Masquerade Party.

During the summer months brothers living in town and summer school plan various weekends at Virginia Beach and Washington for the Virginia brothers, keeping up a year-round Sig Ep brotherhood.

Sig Ep provides its brothers with the widest opportunity on campus, we think, to live a complete and enjoyable life. This, we feel, is the true meaning of a fraternity.

Time: September 1961.

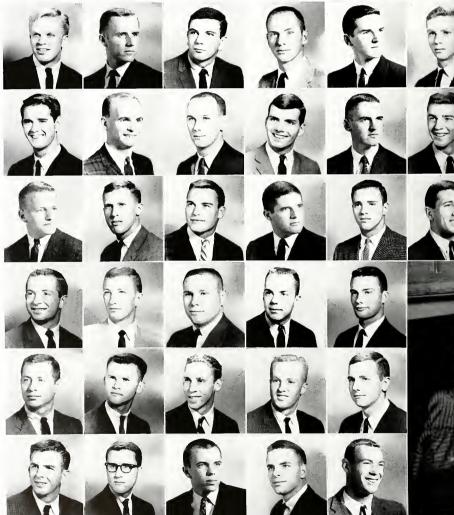

Place: #4 Fraternity Row—The Sigma Pi Lodge.

Oceasion: Arrival of the Brothers of Sigma Pi for another eventful, party-filled year at William and Mary.

Just thirty years ago, the distinctive Greek Cross of Sigma Pi appeared on this campus with the establishment of Alpha-Eta Chapter. Founded initially in 1897 at Indiana's Vincennes University, Sigma Pi has since extended its membership to major colleges throughout the nation.

A warm "welcome back" from our Sweetheart and a thorough lodge cleaning greeted us, as the Sigma Pi's returned early to kick off the new year. There was Sigma Pi President, Mike Lyle; Vice President Karl Zavitkovsky, also Secretary of the Inter-Fraternity Conneil and representative on the Men's Honor Conneil; Secretary, Jim Truxell; Treasurer, Bill Young, also Production Director at WCWM; Social Chairman, Ben Graves; George Gravely, President of the Politi-eal Science Club; Don Lloyd, President of Pi Delta Epsilon; Bill Mirguet, Executive Officer of the Queen's Guard; Al Scott and Jim Hunter, Student Government Assemblymen; John Joplin, football; Charlie McEwen, tennis; Jim Hunter, baseball; and all the rest of the Sigma Pi's, representing a diversity of interests and skills that has brought our fraternity to its position of leadership among the fraternities.

As each week followed upon another, it registered a new achievement for the brothers: Homecoming—best ever; Football—second place, and recognition for "The Green Turtle;" Sorority Parties—those unforgettable afternoons with Kappa and Theta; Variety Show—the skit by Don and Bill that broke up the audience; Theme Parties—the original Bomb Shelter Blast; Volleyball—fraternity champions; Christmas activities—campus serenade, reception for faculty and administration, Christmas Dance (with the Fascinos), and seventeenth annual Christmas Party for Orphans with Tri Delt.

As we look ahead to the second semester, we recall the occasions that made last spring so memorable: Founders' Day Banquet at Yorktown; Pledge-Brother softball; the unforgettable Roman Toga Party; beach trips to Jamestown; and the fabulous Sigma Pi Orehid Ball at Virginia Beach, where Ann Burgess—now Mrs. Pete Siegenthaler—was crowned Sweetheart of Sigma Pi.

THETA DE

This old fraternity was the eleventh secret fraternity established in America, founded at Union College in 1847. It was the first fraternity to appear on the campus of William and Mary, being established here in 1853 as the Epsilon Charge.

President of Theta Delt, Frank Silcox, kept the fraternity in line by commanding such men as Paul Berghaus, Inter-Fraternity Council Treasurer; Tom Richardson, Inter-Fraternity Council Social Chairman; Spud Tatum, Men's Honor Council Representative; Keith Blomstrom, Junior Assemblyman; Max Tongier, Morris House Dormitory Manager; Howard Aulick, Lieutenant in the Queen's Guard; Tom Scott and Arnie Jones, varsity football players; Ed Kirby and Turk Despard, varsity swimming team members; and Carl Lindberg, recently elected National Treasurer for Theta Delta Chi.

The first big fall event, the Homecoming weekend, was a big one for Theta Delt, winning first place in the float contest for the second consecutive year, and honoring many of its alumni at the Founders Day Banquet.

Big weekend parties during the fall included the Annual Halloween Party, Mystic Snoop Party, several sorority parties, and to top them off, the annual Christmas Tree Trimming Party.

After Christmas, Theta Delt kept the ball rolling with such parties as the Inter-Fraternity Block Party, a boat party, and the honoring of their sweetheart, Babs Beaumont, at the Sweetheart Dance.

The Theta Delts kept up their spirit with the traditional initiation of pinned brothers by throwing Bill Shuler, John Johnson, Spud Tatum, and Joe Ayres into the college pond, clothes and all.

Indeed it has been a full and memorable year for the brothers of the campus' oldest fraternity.

The Inter-Fraternity Council is the co-ordinating body for all general fraternity activities. It consists of the president and a second representative from each of the eleven fraternities. All officers, except the vice president who is chosen from the fraternity presidents, are elected from these representatives.

The purposes of the council include promoting cordial relations between the fraternities, the establishing of rules to govern rushing and other activities all fraternities have in common, and to publish a handbook designed to acquaint incoming freshmen with the background of each fraternity and the nature of rush.

Also, this year, it sponsored a series of lectures for the purpose of acquainting students with the value of fraternities beyond that of being mere social acquaintances.

The Pan-Hellenic Council is a representative body made up of two girls elected from each sorority and a president. This year the oflicers are: Martha Walton, president; Sandy Hoffman, vice president; Pat Graves, secretary; and Diane Snyder, treasurer. The council's primary purpose is to improve cooperation among the nine sororities and to act as a link connecting the sororities and the administration. The council also works with the Inter-Fraternity Council in sponsoring certain activities during the year.

Rush is regulated by the council and a program is set up by which the Freshman women are acquainted with the sorority system at William and Mary. Included in this program are such things as a booklet, "Greek Notes", which presents a list of the rush rules and other pertinent information, skits which illustrate the rush regulations, and a tea at which the prospective rushee may ask any questions concerning sororities in general.

In order to encourage better scholarship among sorority women, the Pan-Helleuic Council sponsors a scholarship trophy and an improvement plaque as well as two scholarships which are given to deserving women each year.

This year for the first time a Pan-Hellenie Workshop was held. Both the council women and the sorority women who participated profited by the ideas presented and discussed at this successful

The local Pan-Hellenic Council is affiliated with the National Pan-Hellenic Council which consists of delegates from each of the national sororities.

PHYLLIS HOCKADAY, President

With the opening of school in September, the Alpha Chi's began plans for an enthusiastic new start in sorority and college life. Our officers: Phyllis Hockaday, president; Bonnie Higgins, vice president; Phyllis Atwood, secretary; and Murph Weirick, treasurer, were ready for the new year. Informal gatherings were given in the house in which everyone related their summertime experiences. Everyone then started early stuffing preparations for our homecoming float, "Bulldogs Siesta, Indians Fiesta".

Our first formal gathering was our Founders Day Banquet. We were so proud to have two of our sisters tapped for Phi Beta Kappa in Autumn Convocation. Other social highlights of October were our Faculty Tea and our initiation of spring pledges. We were also honored in October by a visit from Mrs. David Evans, our Collegiate Development Director.

November was filled with parties including a slumber party, fraternity socials, a dessert at Gamma Phi, and a very successful reception for Frosh men. In December we held our annual Winter Formal, our underprivileged party given with Kappa Sig, and our sorority Christmas party.

The beginning of a new year brought new enthusiasm for sorority spirit and rush. We honored our great new pledges at our Spring Dinner Dance. Next came Initiation and our Senior Banquet where we made our farewells and expressed good wishes for the future.

The year proved to be another successful one for the wearers of the Lyre, one filled with gracious memories, never to be forgotten, and one in which the social and academic worlds blended in accord with the notes of Our Symphony.

IDEE ANGEL, President

In the fall of sixty-one, the Chi Omega house was the scene of trunks, suitcases, boxes, and excited, chattering girls who were greeting each other after their long, happy summer days. The officers for this year: Deliaan Angel, president; Mickey Lande, vice president; Bonnie Bauer, secretary; and Jo Ann Houseworth, treasurer, were all ready to begin the new year.

Informal rush began soon after the start of classes, and the Chi Omegas welcomed four new pledges—Betty Brooks, Marcia Childress, Susan Collins, and Jackie Crebbs.

Homecoming arrived rather early this year, and the Chi Omega float was a big surprise. It was an enormous dog bone with the inscription "DOG-GONE". The girls, dressed in green and orange Indian costumes, carried the bone on their shoulders, and "whooped" their way down Duke of Gloucester Street.

After Homecoming, the Chi Omegas had parties with numerous fraternities, entertained several sororities with desserts, and, following mid-semesters, began making plans for Christmas and initiation.

On the first of December, the Chi Omegas gave their gala Christmas Dance in conjunction with Tri Delta. In keeping with the holiday season the Chi Omegas decorated their door, gave a trim-the-tree party, went caroling on campus and at Eastern State, and prepared Christmas kindness baskets for needy families.

Formal rush took place in February. It was extremely heetie, but, as usual, rush was very successful for the Chi Omegas. The new pledges were soon seen boasting their ribbons, their owls, and their little black bugs.

In the spring the Chi Omega pledges were presented at the White Carnation Dance, and were initiated immediately thereafter. The familiar words "Chi O, ever after, we'll remember you," resounded through sorority court and the Chi Omega door closed once more upon a wonderful and exciting year.

1961-62 BEGINNING OF THE SPACE AGE

Tri Delta, keeping up with the space age, blasted off on an astronomical year after returning to the campus from summer vacation. Our officers: Gayle Crabill, president; Bea McKay, vice president; Jo Ann Dotson, secretary; and Lorne Mitchell, treasurer, were ready for the new year. Delightment in the new furnishings completing the redecoration of our house set off the first stage in our flight. Then came informal rush followed quickly by preparations for homecoming. The work was heetic, but it was made worthwhile when our float with the theme, "Bone Up and Bug 'Um," took first place.

In November we commemorated our founders on Thanksgiving Eve with our annual banquet at the Williamsburg Lodge. Exciting fraternity parties and

"yummy" desserts kept our free hours filled with activity.

As the Christmas season arrived, we began the round of festivities together with the Chi Omegas at our Christmas Dance. The annual fraternity serenades heightened the Christmas spirit. Together with Sigma Pi, we entertained a group of orphans, and Santa joined us at our annual Pine Party. Finally, we embarked on a much needed vacation.

Our Tri Delta space ship glided into formal rush, and our new pledges were presented at the Spring Pledge Formal Dance. Then we entertained the faculty at the annual Spring Garden Party at the home of Dr. and Mrs. Guy.

Dr. and Mrs. Guy.

In May we concluded our pace-setting year, when we bade farewell to the senior Deltas at the Pansy Breakfast, and sent our space ship soaring still higher.

JANE NOBLE, President

Along with September come many things: Labor Day weekend, faint spots of red and brown on the green leaves, and the return of all the Indians to the reservation. The officers for this year: Jane Noble, president; Maggie Bounds, vice president; Mary Alice Adams, secretary; and Judy Delbridge, treasurer, were all ready for the new season. Along with the autumn breezes the Gamma Phis joined in the swing of things by partying with Sig Ep and madly rushing to complete their cannibal skirts and masks which they proudly displayed on Homecoming Day. We had our traditional faculty tea, desserts, and Founders Day eelebration.

As the days got colder and shorter, warmth and gaiety enveloped the Gamma Phi house with the beginning of Thursday night dinners, TGIF parties, fraternity open houses, and a Thanksgiving basket.

GAMMA

Despite the bleakness of December's weather, tests, and papers, we broke the ice with a Christmas dance and our "big-little" sister Christmas party. Santa was especially kind by giving us a new TV set, compliments of Marlboro. Remembering the true spirit of Christmas, we joined SPE with a party for the Dunbar children.

Invigorated from a two week's rest at home and the nip in the air of Mr. January, we were greeted in Williamsburg by a newly decorated house. A new month, a new semester, and a new pledge class gave us great promise for the spring. The birds were chirping while the Gamma Phis proudly presented their pledges at the spring dance, paid honor to their mothers with a Mother's Day tea, and began sad farewells to the Seniors through a chapter pienic and Senior banquet.

The scales fell into a true balance in the fall when we gained second place with our Homecoming Float and captured second position in sorority academic rating. From pledgeship to the fun and responsibility of actives, we Thetas have found the warmth and friendship offered us by the kite, a true incentive to extend our scope to others. We feel the year 1961-62 has proven to be such a fulfilling year and are eagerly planning to make 1962-63 a step even closer to the ideal.

Summer began with the Kappa Delta National Convention in Roanoke, Virginia. Alpha Pi was chosen to conduct the national initiation, and received the additional honor of initiating three of our own pledges. In September our officers: Joan Ruth, president; Liz Tiedeman, vice president; Sally Robert, secretary; and Mary Weldon, treasurer, were all ready for a wonderful new year.

KD's worked busily on their float, "Butcher Bulldogs", for Homecoming

Weekend which was highlighted by several events, ribbons were proudly worn for our 101st chapter at East Tennessee Wesleyan, and special reunion was held for the Alpha Pi Class of 1932.

Founders Day in October was made special by a visit from Eames Patterson, National Kappa Delta Membership Chairman. Initiation was held in November, preceded by a very exciting and secretive White Rose Week for the new initiates.

KAPPA

The Christmas season was crowded with many activities. KD combined with Theta to give a faculty tea. After the Diamond Ball, all the Alpha Pi's gathered in the house for a gay evening of tree trimming, gifts, songs, and general good cheer.

January was filled with studying for exams and making final preparations for rush in February. The annual benefit bridge for the KD National Philanthropy, the Crippled Children's Hospital in Richmond, was held in March.

Spring included Easter baskets for the needy, the Spring Presentation Dance, the Senior Banquet, and the annual Parents' Day Tea.

Throughout all the seasons of the college year, KD had many pajama parties, fraternity parties, coffee klatsches, and special dinners.

KAREN ZIMMERMAN, President

The latest weather bureau forecast for the Kappa house and vicinity—The opening days of school were warm and sunny with many smiling faces and enthusiasm to start off a new year. Our officers: Karen Zimmerman, president; Betty Lou Anderson, vice president; Pat Chastain, secretary; and Jean Garde, treasurer, were all set for the coming year. We were greeted by our brand new, shiny kitchen and brightly painted furniture in our rooms. As the fall became cooler, we all made plans for our Homecoming float, and with some last minute hammering, our enormous meat grinder took third place honors. In the midst of these beautiful fall days, we pledged two new Kappas, were proud of a newly tapped Phi Beta Kappa—Nancy Carol Taylor, and had raving fraternity parties and lovely serenades.

KAPPA KA

For the Christmas season we had the Monmouth Duo, our joint dance with Pi Beta Phi, which was, as usual, a great success, only to be followed by our Christmas party at the house with Santa around our tree. Christmas was full of spirit, with our traditional party with Pi Lambda Phi for underprivileged children. After exams, "I am so Happy --" could be heard across campus, and we ushered in a wonderful new freshman pledge class in formal rush and began making plans for their Pledge Presentation dance.

As the days became warmer, with alum and faculty teas, fraternity parties, and get-togethers with other sororities, the seniors were honored at the annual Senior Banquet and the Fleur-de-Lis party. Then we bade a farewell to all our seniors and kept the vivid memories of this year.

This September the Phi Mu's were delighted when they first saw the new living rooms and kitchen—they looked dreamy. We welcomed the faculty to a tea honoring our new house mother, Mrs. Laura Balch. Our officers: Ann Miller, president; Carolyn McCarthy, vice president; Jane Turns, secretary; and Courtenay Turner, treasurer, were all ready to begin a new and exciting year. Soon hammers and saws were put into action, the dining room was filled with oil cloth and glue-Homecoming was just a few days away. Our monthly Philomathean hours were highlighted by showing the movie, θ peration Abolition.

PH!

Mid-Semester exams were followed by The Harvest Ball. We celebrated thanksgiving with our alumni. The Christmas festivities began with a Tannenbaum party. Afterward Santa filled all our stockings and we all laughed at "his" humor as we opened our gifts.

Rnsh—what panic yet what pleasure. We were all proud of our pledges, and they looked elegant when they were presented at the spring dinner-dance.

This very successful year was climaxed by the Senior Banquet when the seniors read their last will and testament, and the juniors prophesical what would happen to the graduates. As a Phi Mu, this year has been most fulfilling, and we are looking forward to an even greater one next year.

Margie Berry, President

The calendar flashed September as the Pi Phi's hurried back to greet our new Mother, Mrs. Montgomery. Our officers: Margie Berry, president; Pat Wade, vice president; Ann Haynes, secretary; and Sidney Seville, treasurer, were all ready to begin the new school year. Informal rush was soon begun; the Pi Phi's were so proud of their new pledges—five in all—those girls were in a cloud! Back down to earth! The float was made; the product you have seen. We won fourth place, but, best of all, our Pat was chosen queen.

Mid-semesters crept up fast; the Pi Phi's hit their books. Then Nancy Van proved to all of us that brains can pair with looks, for Phi Beta Kappa tapped our girl-a cause for festivity!

BETA

Amid the fun we found time to think of others, too. Our Thanksgiving turkeys brightened hospital trays and brought fresh hopes anew. Intramurals proved more fun than we could ever tell; in hockey we out-played the rest and first place to us fell.

At Christmastime we had a ball with parties and carols at night. We gave a cheery open house and decorated all in sight. The Monmouth Duo with KKG highlighted the Christmas cheer. Thoughts turned toward home, Kris Kringle, friends, and those that we hold dear.

The New Year promised added joys of rush, pledges, new Pi Phi's! A combo party, banquet, teas, exams, and hurried goodbyes. The year has been a great one, we leave it with a sigh, and look forward to more good times next year in ole Pi Phi.

ATHLETIC DEPARTMENT

William S. Gooch Business Manager

Barry G. Fratkin Sports Publicity Director Although a general athletic decline was witnessed this past year, the men who handle the athletic fortunes of William and Mary are a dedicated group, who probably will remedy this situation next year. The members are varied in their backgrounds, and their many years of experience support their capabilities.

At the head of the department and also head football coach for his fifth year is Milt Drewer, a 1949 graduate of Randolph-Macon College. After starring for the Yellow Jackets at fullback, Drewer coached at three Virginia high schools before moving to the University of Richmond as an assistant coach. In May, 1957, Drewer moved to the Reservation where his first team upset North Carolina State who at the time was ranked tenth in the nation.

Assisting Drewer this past fall was Ed Derringe (Georgetown, '42); Lou Holtz (Kent State '59), who also doubles as golf coach; and Larry Peccaticllo (William and Mary '58), head freshman football coach. The football staff will miss two other assistants, Dave Nusz, who also was the tennis coach; and Dante Defalco, who moved on to similar positions at Detroit and Richmond Universities respectively.

At the helm of the Indians basketball team is Bill Chambers, a former Helms All-American basketball player at William and Mary in 1951-52. Chambers came to the Tribe in 1957 after compiling a brilliant record at Newport News High School, and recorded four winning seasons here, including a Big Five Championship, before suffering his first losing season this year.

A leading figure in Virginia AAU circles and one of the country's most successful coaches is Harry Groves (Temple '53), head of the Tribe's cross-country and track and field teams. Assisting Groves in track and field and also serving as head trainer for the College is Mont Linkenauger, a 1951 graduate of William and Mary.

The busiest coach on the Reservation is Joe Agee, a 1952 graduate of William and Mary. Agee serves as assistant freshman football coach, head freshman basketball mentor, where he has never had a losing season, and as baseball coach. Another dedicated department member is Dudley Jenson (Springfield '48) who is head of the swimming team and the college's extensive intramural program.

Back for his 34th year at William and Mary, is the department's business manager, William "Pappy" Gooch. Pappy, a beloved figure at the Reservation and one of the most well-known persons in the sports world, has held nearly all of the positions in the athletic department during his long stay at William and Mary.

Barry Fratkin (William and Mary '64) entered his first year as Director of Sports Publicity, replacing Bill Bryant who spent the year studying and writing in Europe. Fratkin also serves as sports editor of the College newspaper, and is a member of the golf team.

This organization is composed of all interested men who have won a varsity letter. It was founded in 1914, and has a threefold purpose: to further the intramural and varsity athletic program for men; to promote sportsmanship on and off the campus; and to further the interests of athletic functions in general.

This year the Club sponsored the annual election of a basketball queen by penny votes which were donated to the Community Chest. It also ushered at basketball games, and made plans to renew the once-annual dance after the spring intersquad football game. Its final activity of the year is to be a party at which lettermen can get to know the participants in other sports.

VARSITY CLUB

CHEERLEADERS

This year's cheerleading squad enjoyed a successful year. Present at all football games and most basketball games, the squad attempted to improve school spirit. In the pursuit of this aim the squad led pep rallies, held a bon-fire rally during homecoming, and devised a skit at the Richmond game. A Freshman cheering squad also helped develop enthusiasm among freshman teams.

This year's varsity squad pursued the idea of joint participation of boys and girls, both of whom helped lead cheers and did acrobatics. The squad introduced some new cheers, and purchased a siren to make more noise at football games. The girls also got new uniforms for basketball games.

This year's squad was composed of Bill Amme, head cheerleader Carol Evans, whose seemingly boundless enthusiasm fascinated all, Carolyn Birch, whose talents contributed to the squad, Sally Monroe, Barbara Aubry, Leslie Ward, the "Indians" who were always in the middle of all the action, Cathy Carr and Ann Piddington, whose talents and enthusiasm were endlessly at work, and finally last, but by far least, Art Regel, Herb Hausmann and Dick Goodwin, whose acrobatics and talents proved to be good assets to the squad.

This year Bill Smith continued on as The Indian, contributing his riding and acrobatic talents to the pleasure and enthusiasm of all. Wampo and the Indian dancers helped to add color and spirit to many of the football games at Cary Field and away.

This year the squad had a faculty advisor, Mr. Pedigo of the Biology Department. Mr. Pedigo was immediately well liked by the squad, and, with the help of Mrs. P., he contributed transportation, encouragement and numerous other helpful hints to the squad.

The squad wound up the year with tryouts in the spring and a banquet with the Athletic Department later on, where the seniors received blankets. The squad is now resting up for their duties next year with high hopes.

with a revamped V. P. I. eleven providing the opposition. Senior halfback Roger Hale launched the season in the right direction with a 10-yard seoring gallop early in the first half. But this proved to be the last offensive action of the Big Green that night. Fumblitis struck and three fumbles were recovered by the Gobblers.

For most of the night the defensive performance was superb. Tech was completely bottled up except for one four-minute period in the third quarter when their offense exploded. V.P.I. scored no less than three touchdowns inside four minutes to take a 20-6 lead. Tech struck on gallops of 6, 18, and 77 yards to reverse the complexion of the game. The teams lapsed back into a defensive duel so that the 20-6 score stood up until the gun sounded.

Coach Drewer, although disappointed with the outcome of the season's inaugural, found words of praise for the sophomores who received their first varsity competition. Big things were expected of T. W. Alley, John Sapinsky, Mike Lesniak, Bill Corley, and Charlie Weaver.

VIRGINIA		 21

The Indians next clashed head on with the husky Cavaliers of the University of Virginia in an all-important non-conference game. U.Va. carried a national record-tying string of 28 straight defeats into the game along with a determination to end the decline with a victory over the Indians. The Tribe was equally aroused to give their all to "help" Virginia set the record. Some 18,000 exhuberant fans packed Scott Stadium in Charlottesville for the highly-publicized tilt. Two and a half hours later as they marched out of the stands the scoreboard read: U.Va. 21-W&M 6.

New head coach, Bill Elias, Southern Conference Coach of the Year, parlayed his magical touch with a great reserve strength into one of the biggest wins in the school's history. Virginia unleashed a relentless ground attack to exploit the Tribe's depth problem. Many of the starters were felled by the sweltering weather. U.Va. tallied on rushes of one yard, seven yards, and one yard as they continually found holes in the defense.

Tribe end Dennis O'Toole turned in the most spectacular play of the game by grabbing a wayward Cavalier pass and racing 87 yards to paydirt. Late in the game Drewer discovered an exciting sophomore aerial combination of Dan Henning to Bill Corley to add promise for the coming encounters.

In an exciting display of offensive fireworks with special emphasis on the long pass, William and Mary staged a thrilling show for the Brigade of Midshipmen at Navy's Memorial Stadium. The act was pretty well one-sided as the Sailors came up with the key interceptions and exhibited the best pass patterns. With a strong finish Navy smacked the Tribe to the tune of 44-6.

The Midshipmen tallied first on a 54-yard pass play from Ron Klemick to Jim Stewart. Then with only three seconds remaining in the half, Dick Markoff intercepted a desperation pass and returned it 80 yards to make the halftime tally

Manpower problems really caught up with the Tribe in the second half, and Navy's offense moved into high gear. The Sailors rolled up a total of 233 yards gained through the airlanes. Sole satisfaction for the Tribe was providing the day's most crowd-pleasing play. Dan Henning connected with Tom Scott on a short pass and the senior halfback threaded his way 86 yards for a touchdown. With three straight losses on the road, the Indians hoped that the Cary Field atmosphere would help them get into the win column on the next weekend.

With Cary Field as the setting and the Furman Paladins as the opposition, the Drewermen engineered the upset of the season in the Southern Conference. High-riding Furman had just been installed as pre-season favorite when their victory train was derailed here at Williamsburg.

The previously porous middle line rose up to halt ace fullback Tom Campbell, the leading rusher in the Conference. The pass defense which had been almost non-existent proved extremely stingy to highly-touted quarterback Bill Canty. On offense the line finally started to punch out holes for our backs with the result that the Indians tallied more points than in the first three games combined.

Leading the attack in the 19-6 victory were the running efforts of quarterback Dan Barton and fullback Stan Penkunas. Barton scored on rollouts of 13 and 17 yards, while Penkunas eapped the 72-yard drive in the third quarter with a one-yard plunge.

Defensive plaudits were earned by co-captain Eric Erdossy, John Sapinsky, Calvin Whealton, and John Gravely. The statistics showed how impressive the Cary Field debut really was. The ground yardage was 208 to 125 yards, while the overall yardage was 281 to 238.

THE CITADEL	10

Homecoming 1961 brought the Citadel Cadets to play before the largest (7,000) home crowd of the season. Fittingly enough, the game went right to the wire, being decided in the last few seconds. Although the final count showed that the Citadel was the winner, 10-8, many insisted that it was a moral victory for the Tribe.

that it was a moral victory for the Tribe.

The Indians dominated the game statistically but trailed 7-0 late in the game due to a freak pass and Jateral play which covered 41 yards. With Calvin Cox at the helm of the second unit, the Big Green staged a comeback. Moving efficiently against the clock Cox capped the 47-yard drive with a 5-yard rollout.

With the score 7-6 and with the crowd roaring to go for the 2-point conversion, Drewer sent in Dan Barton with the play for the all-important extra point. Rolling right, Barton stopped, pivoted, and threw to co-captain Roger Hale in in the end zone for an 8-7 advantage.

With less than two minutes remaining, the Cadets started to advance in their last-ditch effort to avoid defeat. With only seconds left on the scoreboard clock, Bob Gilzo shattered every W&M partisan's hopes with a game-ending field goal from the 27-yard line. Lady Luck had smiled the other way again.

Washington's spacious D. C. Stadium was the arena for the battle against George Washington. As had happened earlier in the season, the foreign soil proved disagreeable to the Tribe. Unable to stop sophomore halfback Dick Drummond, the Indians yielded to GW by a 49-12 score.

To say the very least, GW looked impressive in compiling its 35-0 halftime bulge. Second-half scores for the visitors were supplied by Stan Penkunas' plunge and by a Cal Cox-Dennis O'Toole aerial covering five yards. One bright spot in an otherwise gloomy night was the performance of sophomore halfback Dick Kern. Coming off the bench in the last half, he distinguished himself by rallying a sagging offense with several fine runs. He did well enough to earn himself a berth on the starting team for the next game.

William and Mary was hampered at the outset by injuries to such key players as Arnie Jones, H. C. Thaxton, Charlie Weaver, and Bob Malarkey. A surprising statistic in face of the score showed that the teams were even in first downs. But there were no alibis for the lopsided defeat, only the old ery of "Wait till next year." Returning to Williamsburg to face defending champion Virginia Military, the Tribe's fortunes were looking up after the first quarter's action. W&M took the opening kickoff and moved to the VMI four-yard line before being halted. Roger Hale, Dick Kern, and Stan Penkunas alternated on the drive.

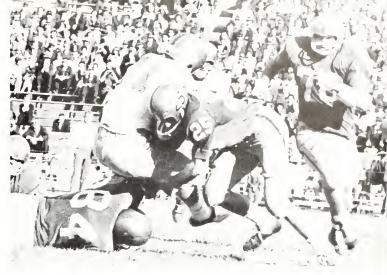

Defensive specialist Dan Driscoll promptly recovered a Keydet fumble on the five from where Hale zoomed over for the touchdown. Dan Barton kicked the extra point and Indians led 7-0.

But just as the football takes bounces in different directions, the team did an about face and VMI took advantage of the Tribe's lapse. The Keydets managed to reach paydirt once in the second quarter and again in the third quarter to go ahead 14-7. It was not until near the end of the game that excitement replaced boredom.

When Dan Henning came in for a last try at moving the ball, everyone in the stadium knew he would pass. And pass he did! With pin point accuracy he moved the ball to the VMI nine. Then just as it seemed that the game would be resented after all, VMI guard Dong Walker dashed all hopes of a possible comeback by making a diving interception.

Henning's performance added promise of things to come and earned him a starting berth against Davidson.

WILLIAM AND MARY	7
VMI	14

The first play from scrimmage of the Davidson game, a 40-yard pass from Dan Henning to Dick Kern, established the trend for the afternoon's fireworks. A fantastic finish by the Tribe stirred the fans to the very bounds of emotion before falling just short, 31-30.

After Henning had engineered a TD on seven straight passes with Ernie Phillips getting the tally, Davidson came to life. Utilizing a superior punt return play to remain in W&M territory, the Wildcats pushed across 5 TD's to one for W&M to build up a 31-14 lead in the fourth quarter.

The Indians started the long road back by charging an attempted punt so fiercely that a safety resulted. With Cal Cox directing the team, the Big Green drove the length of the field where Phillips snared another TD pass. Bill Corley gathered in the all important extra point pass.

With only two minutes left the plight of the home gridders still looked dismal. But a perfect onside kick by Dan Barton was successful in getting the ball. At the 30 seconds point Charlie Weaver got behind his man, gathered in a Cox bomb, and sprinted across the goal line.

Behind by one point, W&M gambled on the two point conversion—and lost! Cox was swarmed over by the entire right side of the Davidson line as he rolled out. The gun ended the most exciting game in many a season.

WILLIAM AND MARY	13
ARMY	48

With ten minutes to play, the Michie Stadium scoreboard read Army 21—William and Mary 13. Murmurs ran through the east stands of a great upset that wasn't beyond reach. The West Point partisans were beside themselves trying to explain the closeness of the score.

In the first quarter Army had marched to a touchdown the first time they had had the ball. But they gave it right back by a fumble and a pass interference penalty. From the one-yard line Dan Henning hit Ernie Phillips on a spot pass for the score. Stan Penkunas provided the other score for the Tribe plus an exciting fifty-one-yard romp through the Cadet defenses midway in the third quarter.

Unfortunately for William and Mary the final ten minutes were played. By this time the middle-line defense had been brutally worn down by the superior manpower. Army fullbacks plowed ahead at will. The final count showed no less than four TD's in the last quarter to make the score 48-13. Five of the West Point touchdowns were by fullbacks, three by veteran Al Rushatz. The largest crowd of the season (18,150) watched the onslaught, then left with mixed emotions.

The big story on Thanksgiving Day, 1961,was not the final score, Richmond 36—William and Mary 18, nor the secret offense of the Indians, but instead the performance of the Spider's senior halfback, Earl Stoudt. Closing out a fine career, Stoudt scored no less than four times. Throughout the long afternoon, Richmond sprang Stoudt loose around the ends with frightening ease.

Early in the second quarter co-captain Hale took a direct snap in the "corkserew" or shotgun formation, broke through the middle of the line, and shot 63 yards to paydirt. But the Spiders kept rolling.

Dan Henning completed spectacular tosses to Hale for 54 yards and a score, to Arnie Jones for 62 yards, and to Charlie Weaver for 30 yards. This display of a long range threat lends promise to the Tribe's outlook for next season.

The problem was the defensive line, which was riddled by injuries, and which allowed Stoudt to gain 194 yards and 26 points. The Spiders broke even for the season at 5-5 while the Indians finished 1-9.

There were some bright spots as evidenced in the final seasonal statistics. Ernie Phillips tied for first place in pass receptions in the Southern Conference with 26. Dan Driscoll was third in the Southern Conference in punting with a 37.7 average.

Captain Hale led the squad in scoring with 26 points while Stan Penkunas' 5.2 yards per carry was tops of all the regulars. Calvin Cox had a fantastic record of completions (59.4%) whereas Dan Henning rolled up 537 yards through the air lanes.

Eleven seniors completed their football eareers at the Reservation this past fall. The backfield will be hardest hit as quarterbacks, Dan Barton and Calvin Cox, halfbacks, Roger Hale, Walt Scott, and Jim Leffew, and fullback, H. C. Thaxton, all ended their eareers last November. Barton and Cox alternated as the signal-caller for the Tribe during their three years, with Barton being considered the better runner and Cox the leading passer. Hale, a co-captain, paced the team in scoring, pass-receiving, punt returns, and kickoff returns during his tenure at the Reservation. Scott, a three-year letterman, set a William and Mary single-game record in 1959 when he caught eight passes against The Citadel. Leffew was a defensive specialist with good pursuit and safetyman's sense. Thaxton, a three-year letterman, was a powerful runner and standout blocker for the Indians.

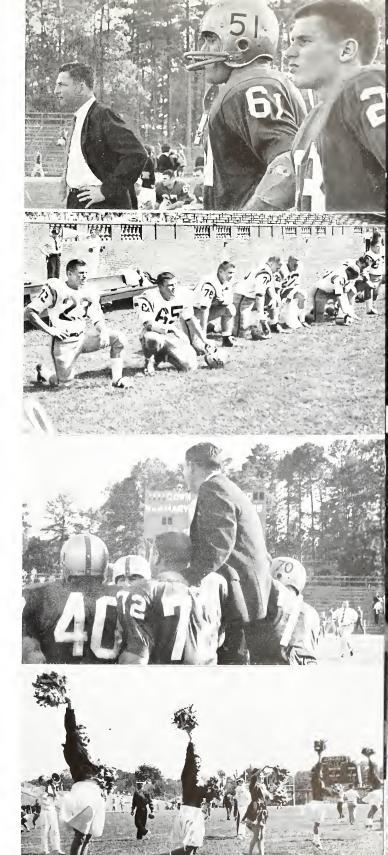

The linemen graduating in June include coeaptain Eric Erdossy, Calvin Whealton, Phil Booker, Ernie Phillips, and Stuart Riley. Erdossy, an All-Southern Conference choice, went both ways well for the Tribe and was a dedicated performer. Whealton, a two-year letterman, was one of the roughest, meanest men on the squad. Although hampered by injuries throughout his college carcer, Phil Booker still developed into a capable performer for the Indians. Ernie Phillips became a surprise star for the Tribe this past year and gained a spot on the All-Southern Conference second team for his excellent pass-catching record. Stuart Riley, another fine performer for the Indians, rounds out the departing players leaving the Reservation.

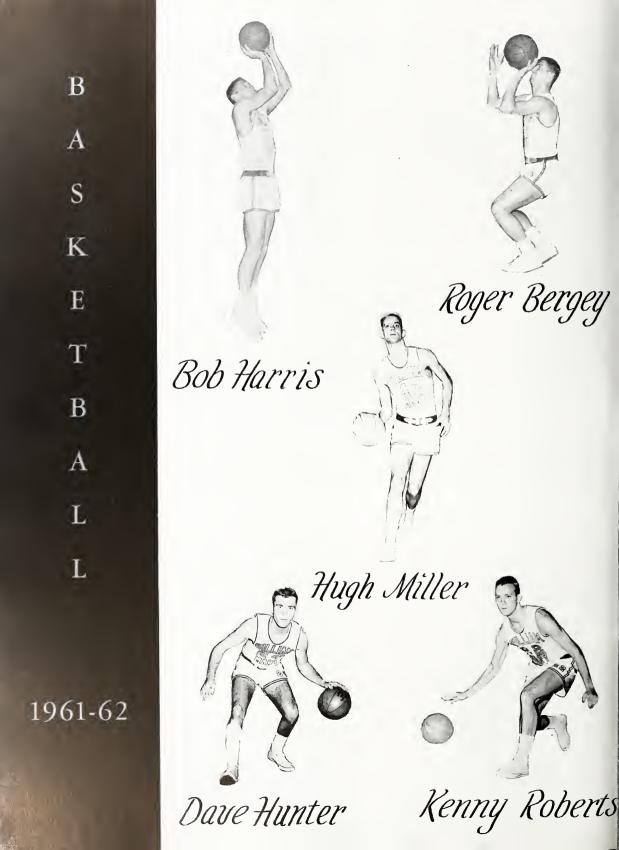

With 28 lettermen returning, an encouraging frosh crop, and the promise of several more ball-players to join the squad, the gridiron fortunes of william and Mary appear to be on the rise for next fall. The depth problem which plagued Coach Milt Drewer this past year seems to be solved as each position has returning veterans and promising new faces.

At quarterback will probably be sophomore, Dan Henning, who had a brilliant passing year, although he will be pushed by another rising sophomore, Dan Armour. Returning at halfback will be Charlie Weaver, Dick Kern, and Arnie Jones, while veteran fullback, Stan Penkunas, will be challenged by a solid freshman, Sam Miller.

The line remains almost intact except for the graduation of end, Ernie Phillips, and guard, Eric Erdossy. Returning to the squad after a year's absence to fill these positions will be Ronnie Jones, a first-string end in 1960, and rugged Bob Soleau, a possible All-American selection at guard. Lettermen Dennis O'Toole and Bill Corley return at the ends, with big John Sapinsky and T. W. Alley at the tackles. Hefty Jeff Craig up from the frosh also is wing for a tackle position. Along with Soleau, Bill Banner, Mike Lesniak, Wilbur Johnson, and Chuck Puskar will be fighting for a guard spot. Last year's two top centers, John Gravely and Dick Korns, both return to strongly fortify this position for the Tribe.

With the potential of a strong line, Charlie Weaver's breakaway running, and Dan Henning's accurate passing, William and Mary could possibly lift itself back into the football spotlight.

For the first time in three years the Indians faced a basketball season without the incomparable Jeff Cohen and his skilled scoring-mate Bev Vaughn. With only one senior, Kenny Roberts, in the starting lineup, this was destined to be a year of rebuilding. Still, it was expected that the team would finish the scason around the .500 mark; however, this forceast did not take into account the hard luck and close defeats Coach Chambers and his crew would suffer during the season.

The season opened in Morgantown, West Virginia, with what was to be the first defeat of an uniquely unsuccessful season on the road as the Mountaineers took a decision. This was followed by successive road losses to The Citadel and Georgia Tech. Then the team returned to Blow Gym for consecutive wins over George Washington, Virginia, and East Carolina, acquiring a 3-3 record by the beginning of Christmas recess.

A trip down to Texas during vacation brought nothing more than two more defeats: from Texas and Texas Tech. William and Mary's road jinx continued, losing successive away games to Furman, Davidson, and Richmond.

Returning to the friendly surroundings of Blow Gymnasium, the Tribe broke back into the win column with a victory over The Citadel. However, this success was followed by the Indians' third home loss in four years—all to the same team, Virginia Tech. The first semester schedule was rounded out with an away loss to V.M.I.

Then during the semester break, fate dealt the Tribe another cruel blow to go along with the loss of sophomore star Dave Hunter due to an injury early in the season; top rebounder and defensive star Kirk Gooding was released from the team as a result of his poor attitude during practice for the annual game with West Virginia in Norfolk.

Nevertheless, the team played one of its finest games of the year, losing by only a 70-61 margin in the closing minutes of the game. They followed this up with a flashy defeat of Furman at Blow Gym. However, poor foul shooting brought an unprecedented second defeat at home in a single season—this time at the hands of Davidson.

Since that time, there has been little for William and Mary fans to cheer about; for there have been successive losses to Memphis State, Loyola, Navy, and Virginia Tech. Going into the final phases of the season, the Indians have a 3-10 conference record with three games left against league foes. They must win them all to insure a spot in the post-season tournament and a chance to redeem an otherwise dismal season.

Unless things are to seem too gloomy, a look should be taken at next year's projects, which include the return of seven of the first eight players, including Roger Bergy and Bob Harris, leading scorer and rebounder, respectively. The fine play-making and ballhawking of Kenny Roberts will be greatly missed, but Paul Cowley and Dave Hunter should more than take up the slack. Lastly, sophomores Jim Roy and Hugh Miller should improve. These factions combined with the aid of Martin Morris and his freshman teammates should enable the Indians to return to the winning side of the ledger.

CROSS-COUNTRY

Once again under the direction of Coach Harry Groves, William and Mary's Cross-Country team enjoyed a successful season. The harriers won eight of eleven dual meets and finished second in the highly competitive Virginia AAU championships and third in the state intercollegiate meet. A highlight of the season was the Tribe's dual meet victory of state intercollegiate champion, V. M. I. The Indians also scored impressive wins over arch-rival Richmond, West Virginia, and North Carolina State.

Outstanding among the team's ten letter winners which included manager John Simon, was sophomore Bob Lawson. His outstanding feats included his first place among the college athletes in the Virginia AAU meet, another first in the state intercollegiate meet, and a fifth in the grucing Southern Conference meet. Senior Co-Captains Martin Aronauer and Ray Coldwell also were instrumental in the successful season the team had. Usually finishing just behind Lawson in the dual meets was another outstanding sophomore, Charles Cooke. Except for junior Tom Palmer, the rest of the letter winners, Frank Brown, Bill Cleveland, Allen Insley, and Pete Raihofer, were all sophomores, therefore, presenting Coach Groves with a solid nucleus for another winning campaign next fall.

The freshman runners won two out of five meets against the outstanding high school and college frosh teams in the area. The papooses finished second in the State AAU junior race, and the Tribe's Tom Yerkes captured first place. The frosh's seven letter winners, Ben Blanton, Bill Bolster, John Hobbs, L. T. Lilliston, Rick Staron, Jerry Stettler, and Yerkes, also heighten the prospects for another successful varsity squad next season.

SWIMMING

This year was another one of continued improvement for Coach Dudley Jensen's mermen. With one meet remaining, the team had acquired a record of five wins, five losses, and one tie against some of the finest teams in the Middle Atlantic area.

The most outstanding characteristic of the team was its great depth, especially in the free style events. Most of the swimmers can swim at least two of the events well.

Fittingly enough, this year's top performers were returning lettermen and co-captains Chris Herr and Glenn Mann. Chris was undefeated in 440-yard free style competition in dual meets and also compiled a fine record in the 220-yard free style and the free style relay. Glenn's events were the individual medley and breast stroke.

Other returning lettermen were Turk Despard, a consistent point-getter in the free style events; Bill May, a standout in breast stroke and butterfly competition; and

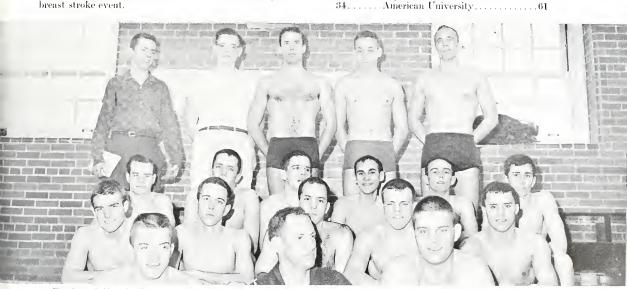

Bill Smith, the team's top diver. Several new William and Marry records were set this year. Herr led the way with times of 2:12.2 and 4:52.2, respectively, in 220 and 440 free style competition. Mann's contribution was a new record of 2:38.9 in the 200-yard breast stroke event.

Also worth noting is freshman Ronald Good's time of 17.4 in the 40-yard free style; this is only two-tenths of a second slower than the world's record of 17.2. He also set a new pool record of 27.9 in the 60-yard free style.

His performances, along with returning sophomore letterman Gordon Baskerville, Mike Booker, Bob Casey, and Dick Franklin, and the promise of other members of the freshman squad point to another fine year in 1963.

After experiencing a disappointing 1964 season which left a 2-14 won-lost record, the William and Mary baseball team is seeking to improve its performance this year. If the Indians are to significantly improve and become a serious title contender, they must succeed in overcoming serious obstacles.

William and Mary has a tough 19-game schedule within a six-week period from early April to the middle of May. To have a successful season, the Indians must be able to overcome the conference powers. West Virginia, last year's Southern Conference champions, are expected to field another powerful team. Other strong title hopefuls include Richmond, Furman, V.P.L., and George Washington.

Perhaps the most outstanding feature of the 1962 baseball team is its youth. Only two seniors, second baseman Bob Irby, and outfielder Paul Berghaus, return to the line-up this year. Irby did a fine job for the team in the 1961 season when he led them in batting with his 300 average. Other veterans whose performances will be important to the season's outcome include: third baseman Guy Harley; infielder Jay Nickel; and outfielder Bruce O'Hara. If these players come through, William and Mary may surprise a few opponents.

Because no coach was available last year there was no freshman baseball team. As a result, there are several talented but inexperienced sophomores who will start at positions this year for the varsity. These sophomores are expected to contribute much to the team once they gain some experience.

The Indians started individual practice early in March, Once Coach Agee's duties as freshman basketball coach were completed, team practice began with its long hours of running and exercising in order to get ready for the season's opening double header at The Citadel.

If the Indians cannot find the right answers to their problems, it may be another long season. If, however, the sophomores and other key players perform well, the Indian baseball team may be a surprise power in the Southern Conference.

RIFLE TEAM

With only three of last year's fine team returning, Coach Patrick had a certain amount of rebuilding to do: however, sparked by returning Captain Gil Bartlett and lettermen Tom Farrington and Tom Eastham, the varsity team has come along well. At this point in the season they have a record of four wins and four losses with three matches still remaining.

The same men have also been the sparkplug of the ROTC team which is undefeated in three matches.

Gil Bartlett was the team's leading marksman with a 282 average: he was followed by Farrington, Eastham, Meisinger, Jump, and Poole in that order. Coach Patrick is to be complimented on the fine job he is doing in building a strong team in this fairly uncommon sport. Besides their remaining three matches, he and the team are looking forward to a strong showing in the Southern Conference Championships, which William and Mary will spend at Fort Lee this year.

Next year should show even more of an improvement despite the great loss of captain and accuracyleader Bartlett; for he is the only man who will leave and there are several experienced freshmen coming up who should fill the gap.

GOLF

This year is expected to be one of rebuilding for Coach Holtz's linksmen, as the team will surely miss departed co-captains Chip Ingram and Dave Mance, who was one of the Southern Conference's top golfers last year. Another unfortunate development is the lack of any real help from last year's freshmen squad.

However, the prospects are not completely bleak. Captain Jeff Graham and veteran Joe Cunningham are expected to hold down the top positions and to provide a sound nucleus for the squad.

Also, there is good balance the rest of the way down the line with returnees from last year's squad Terry Lady and Doug Kielkopf. Further help should be supplied by the return of Jeff Udell, who was out last year with illness.

Thus, the team, besides playing the role of dark horse in the Conference, also has a good chance of replacing V. P. I., which lost their top five men, as king of the Big Six.

TRACK AND FIELD

Track prospects for the spring seem exceedingly bright for the Indians after their fine showing in the State Indoor Championships at Lexington, which saw them finish a close second to host V. M. I. The Indian effort included new meet records of 13'4" by Ron Henry in the pole vault and 51'10" by Pete Brachen in the shotput. Also outstanding were Bart Partch and Bill Jeffries, who tied for first place in the high jump; the winning mile relay team of Al Insley, John Bahm, Jerry Gimmel, and John Randolph; and Gimmel and Insley again, who finished first and third respectively in the halfmile.

These men, along with returning Southern Conference hurdle champion, Bob Diederich, miler Ray Coldwell, twomiler Marty Adler, and pole-vaulter Dale Thoma, who finished second to Henry in the state meet, give Coach Groves the nucleus of what should be one of the school's better teams.

As of now the schedule consists of the following meets:

March 31-Florida Relays

April 4—University of Florida

April 7—Davidson and Wake Forest

April 13 & 14-Quantico Relays

April 20-V, P. I.

April 24 V. M. I. and Georgetown

April 27—Richmond

April 28 -- Penn Relays

May 5—State Championships

May 11 & 12 - Southern Conference Championships

Also, there remain the Southern Conference and the Atlantic Coast Championships on the indoor schedule.

Losing no one from last year's fine team, which compiled a fine 9-1 record, including victories over George Washington, VPI, VMI, Richmond, and Fort Eustis and a single loss to powerful Colgate, the William and Mary courtmen are looking forward to another outstanding year.

Sparking the team will be seniors Art Vandroff, Tom Fridinger, and Remy Arnoff; juniors Steve Parker, Chico Herrick, and Jim Delaney; and sophomore Dave Hunter, leader of last year's freshman team. The tremendous experience of this team gives every reason to expect an improvement of last year's fourth-place finish in the annual Conference tournament.

A final note of encouragement is to be taken from this year's fine freshman team headed by Mickey Taylor and Craig Carlson.

William and Mary's cricket team was started last spring by Dick Grubb, the Draper exchange student. It was formed around Grubb, Dave McDougal, a Canadian student who played it in Canada, and Bill Fleming who had played cricket in England while he was in school there.

During last spring we did a great deal of hard practicing in preparation for our first match against the British Commonwealth Club from Washington. Although we lost the game, it provided all the students who had never played before with the initial experience which they badly wanted.

During this fall we again played against the British Commonwealth Cricket Club in extremely poor conditions. This game was largely won before the rain began as we got off to an excellent start and got them out for 37, getting the required runs for three wickets.

After our great success we went into our second game against Langley Air Force with a great deal of confidence which immediately showed itself. We once again got off to a good start and we dismissed the side for 56. The fielding and bowling was of a high standard throughout. We then batted and scored the runs with the loss of four wickets.

We are all looking forward to a very successful spring with matches coming up against the British Commonwealth Cricket Club, the Chesapeake Casuals, and the University of North Carolina, with a weekend match in Washington. We all hope to maintain our winning record.

Jim Robinson and Bill Lehner meet in the final round for the place-

The 1961-62 school year proved to be the most successful so far for men's intramurals. A larger turnout of interested athletes as well as a keener competition among the fraternities combined to require intramural director Dudley Jensen to plan a more expanded program.

The biggest story of the semester on the intramural scene would have to be KA's determined bid for the all-campus trophy. Establishing themselves as the team to beat from the very first day, the Rebels rolled on to the touch football championship. On the way to their 10-0 record, KA had close calls with second place Signa Pi (8-6), third place PiKA (14-12), and third place Theta Delt (14-12).

Sparking the champions was league Most Valuable Player, husky Mac Lillywhite, a member of both offensive and defensive all-star teams. Sharing the most valuable player award was Sigma Pi's all-star quarterback, Jim Hunter. Other members of the offensive all-star unit included Carroll Owens of KA, Larry Simpson of SAE, Bill Shuler of Theta Delt, and Karl Zavitkovsky of Sigma Pi. Defensive all-star honors went to Owens, Zavitkovsky, Dave Whitten of SAE, Mike Lyle of Sigma Pi, and John Findlay of Theta Delt. Dale Bickert of KA was honored as the team's utility player.

In the year's place kicking tournament both Jim Robinson of Theta Delt and Bill Lehner of KA thrilled onlookers by booting 100 consecutive placements to end up as co-champions. Lambda Chi's Steve Tatem placed third while SAE's Bob Melton was a distant fourth.

Independent Mickey Taylor kept alive the tradition that a freshman wins the tennis tourney when he upended KA's Fred Lowe in the finals. Frosh Dave Thomas was third and Sigma Pi's Dave McDougal fourth.

KA annexed the horseshoe crown, led by a sizzling display of accuracy by E. J. Bowen. He trounced SAE's Bill Overacre, the runnerup for the last two years. Lambda Chi garnered third and fourth slots in the "iron quoits" competition with Nick Brown and Charlie White.

RAMURALS

Intramural swimming saw three records broken as the freshmen dominated the meet, followed by Kappa Sig and Theta Delt. Ed Kirby of Theta Delt won the backstroke while Dick Franklin of Kappa Sig was the only other fraternity man to emerge victorious. Frosh Ron Goode was the sensation of the meet, scoring heavily in the butterfly, individual medley, and free style. Randy Adams and Jay Anthony were other free stylers who helped the independents gather in the trophy.

Sigma Pi went undefeated in volleyball competition to annex that title but were upset by the independent champions, the Psycho's. The seven players who were selected for the volleyball all-star team included Dave McDougal and Bob Bolander of Sigma Pi, Bill Jeffries of KA, Jim Delaney of PiKA, Dave Harned of Sig Ep, Dennis O'Toole of Sigma Nu, and Doug Fisher of Pi Lamb.

In this year's free throw shooting contest, PiKA's sophomore sensation, Tom Brennan, walked off with the title by making 48 of 50 shots. Pete Sturm of KA was second with Pi Lamb's Jeff Udell in third position.

As expected, wrestling was one of the most popular attractions on the intranural calendar and, as expected, the independent entries fared extremely well. Independent Paul Lipani captured the 137-pound class, Independent Paul Zisman repeated at 147, and frosh Fred Everett took the tough 157-pound class. KA's Steve Merrill proved too much for the competition at 130 while fraternity brother Dan Armour was invincible at 167. Defending 167 champion Ash Woolridge, of Kappa Sig, succeeded in outclassing the opponents in 177. Sigma Nu produced the 191 winner with football player Ron Weber, Fraternity brother Dick Korns successfully defeated unlimited defender Chuck Puskar of Kappa Sig.

As the second semester gets under way the big question is: can anyone catch KA? Robert E. Lee's boys ended the semester well ahead of second place Sigma Pi as well as being a good distance beyond Sigma Nu's record shattering pace of last year.

The Women's Athletic Association organizes and supervises all women's sports activities, both varsity and intramurals. The Association consists of three committees: the Joint Committee, the Managers Board, and the Intramural Committee. The Joint Committee, composed of the Student Officers, the Head of the Department, the Treasurer of Women's Athletic Association, the Faculty Head of Intramurals, and the Assistant Dean of Women, conducts the business of the association. All women students upon matriculation automatically become members of the Women's Athletic Association.

The officers of the 1961-1962 Association are: president, Donna Floyd; secretary, Claudy Tucker; point recorder, Donna Nunn; student head of intramurals, Susan Griggs; secretary of Managers Board, Dot Young. These student heads are assisted by the physical education department and by Mrs. Reeve, faculty sponsor of intramurals.

Under the intramurals program, each sport is supervised by a student manager elected by the Joint Committee who organizes and publicizes her sport. Participation is organized through the sixteen dormitory and sorority teams, or in some sports by individual entry. Each sorority and dormitory elects an intramural representative who organizes her respective team.

This year the intramural student managers were: tennis, Joan Brame; free throw, Lynda Walker; hockey, Sara Baughan; volleyball, Pat Patterson; basketball, Dot Young; bowling, Emily Delk; softball, Lynne Thomas; and swimming, Martha Walton.

Points are awarded on the basis of individual participation and for which, upon obtaining a specified accumulation, an award is granted. The highest individual award for participation in all areas is the 1,000 point College blazer. Emblems and scrolls are also awarded for participation in varsity sports, Mermettes, and Orchesis. These attainments are announced at the annual Spring Banquet which completes the year's activities.

Positions at the Butty

With returning letter winners Judy Bryan, Rosie Wilbur, Penny Armstrong, Dot Young, and co-captains Shiras Elliott and Donna Nunn, the Squaws opened their season against the Little Colonels of Richmond. Although the score was 7-1 in favor of the Little Colonels, the game was well-played and was a serious effort. The junior varsity, captained by Keven Farley, fell to Saint Catherine's in its first game from lack of experience. The team, coached by Miss Joan Pattison, bounced back by beating Norfolk College 4-1 in a game that saw co-ordinated passing and well set up goals. Donna Nunn and Penny Armstrong contributed two goals appiece to the score.

After losing to aggressive Roanoke College 3-1, the season's record was evened by defeating the Petersburg Hockey Club 5-1. Traveling to Richmond, the Squaws lost to Westhampton, Donna Nunn scoring one goal in the first half. The junior varsity was also defeated. The regular season ended with a three win and three loss record by downing Lynchburg College 2-1 on goals by Alois Tinnsman and Lynn Marcus.

At the Tidewater Association Hockey Tournament at Longwood College, Shiras Elliott was elected to the first Tidewater and teanmate Mary Chichester to the second team. The girls were chosen for skill and attitude towards team play. During the tournament, William and Mary played the Richmond Club losing by 4-0 and then tied Mary Washington College 2-2. Shiras Elliott and Mary Chichester went to Roanoke to participate in the Southeast Tournament with players from all over the state of Virginia.

The basketball team began practice for its 1962 season early in December. Many new additions were acquired by the team from the freshman class who show much promise for the future. Diane Rassiga, Ellen Saint Claire, Gene Birdsong, and Dabney Delaney are particularly outstanding among the new team members. However, even their presence was not able to make up for the loss of two of last year's star members, Donna Nunn and Betty Bob Williams. This year's captain of the varsity is sophomore Judy Bryan who played both forward and guard positions on the team. Another outstanding player was sophomore Lynda Walker who leads the team in their scoring attack. Among the guards, Dabney Delaney, Gene Birdsong, and Betty Coffman worked together effectively in their triangle zone defense.

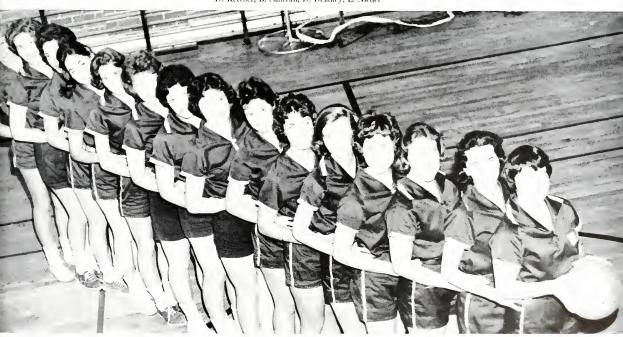

Team practice was held three times a week under the coaching of Miss Barksdale who drilled the girls in tactics and plays. An inter-squad game started off the season which helped build team spirit and determine the abilities of the players. The squad was divided into two teams, the varsity with Judy Bryan as captain and the junior varsity captain, Claudie Tucker. Both teams participate in the contests held with other schools, two games being played with the opposition's respective teams.

This year the schedule included games with the Medical College of Virginia, Mary Washington, Bridgewater College, and Westhampton College. Also the team had a state trip, traveling to Lynchburg College and on to Longwood, returning home for a final game with the visiting team from Notre Dame of Baltimore.

Fast-moving game against Hollins

Squaws triumphant about victory over Hollins

The Lacrosse team began the 1961 season under a handicap due to the graduation of many top players. But through the coaching of Miss Joan Pattison and the help of captain Dot Young, plus a lot of hard work by the individual players, a skilled team was organized.

Opening the season with a home game against Westhampton, the team proved itself, winning by a good margin with a score of 9-1. However, at Sweet Briar they met with defeat by 7-5 after a hard and close game with the experienced Sweet Briar team. Then on to Hollius and William and Mary's second victory of the season by downing the opposition 9-3.

Going to the State Tournament in Richmond with a 2-1 record, the Squaws were upset in a surprise comeback by the Westhampton team in the first game with a close score of 3-2. In the second game, the team played with its usual fast-moving attack co-ordinated with a strong defense to defeat Hollins again by the score 9-1. After preliminary games, first and second All-State teams were chosen from the four attending squads. William and Mary had the honor of having more girls placed on both teams than any of the other representative schools. Chosen for the first team that traveled to the National Tournament at Manhattanville College in New York to represent Virginia in the tournament were: Judy Bryan, Reya Rhine, Eve Rothrock, and Dot Young. Elected to the second reserve team from the William and Mary squad were: Linnea Barnes, Nancy Boggs, Eleanor Hartman, and Jane Lawson.

This year as in past seasons the tennis team operated under a double squad, thereby combining both the varsity and junior varsity members. This combination system permitted the members to interchange positions, the fluctuation being based on continual personal ability and performance and ultimately resulting in a highly qualified squad. This season the team was under the direction of Miss Barksdale and was managed by Joan Brame, the student manager.

Tryouts were held at the end of March to ensure a practiced and readied team for the first match which was held with Westhampton shortly following spring vacation. The opposing teams played this season were: Westhampton, Suffolk Recreational Center, R. P. I., Mary Washington, Longwood, Sweet Briar, and Lynchburg.

Furthermore, the schedule included two tournaments. At the beginning of May several representatives were sent to the Middle States Tournament held at Bryn Mawr in Pennsylvania. Then on the 10th, 11th, and 12th of May, William and Mary was represented at the Middle Atlantic Tournament at Mary Baldwin.

This year the squad lost one of its most valuable players, Donna Floyd, who graduated in February. Besides holding several national honors, Donna also brought recognition to William and Mary by winning twice the Middle States Tourney and last year the Middle Atlantic Tourney. Last summer Donna was selected as a participant at Wimbledon.

"Touché"

The women's fencing team at William and Mary is composed mainly of members who have been exposed to fencing only in their physical education classes and wish to continue in this highly skilled sport. They meet and practice as a team every Tuesday evening during their spring season and each individual is responsible for practicing for an additional two hours a week at her convenience. The team is coached by Miss Reeder and other faculty members with fencing ability who also meet with the team on Tuesday nights to practice with them and give pointers.

The first and most challenging match of the year was held with the International Center from the YWCA of Baltimore which is composed of amateur fencers above the college level. This match was held mainly for the experience gained by the William and Mary players from their bouts with the well-seasoned players. Other matches were held with Madison College in Harrisonburg, Mary Washington College in Fredericksburg, Goucher College in Baltimore, and another amateur team from Waynesboro, Virginia, which was just recently formed. The team usually participates in the annual VMI Invitational Tournament held in Lexington along with other schools in the state, but this year a conflicting match prevented their participation.

The club operates on the two-team basis with alternates, allowing all the team members to get playing experience during the season. This year's more experienced players include captain Rhea Neuroth and Cynthia Moore, who are both juniors, and sophomore Maxine Steinback who shows great potential.

Dear Miss Garde

Many thanka for giving me the honor of choosing Miss William and Mary.

Although it wasn't an entirely easy assignment, it was certainly a very pleasant one and I have chosen Miss Betty Smith the winner.

I hope you will extend my congratulations to Betty - and I wish every success to you and the staff of the Colonial Echol
